

General Strike in Plants of Bethlehem Steel Company Ordered for Monday

40,000 MORE TO JOIN IN STRIKE

National Committee for Organizing Iron and Steel Workers Acts

Rival Leaders Again Issue Claims of Gains in Workers and Strikers

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 27.—The national committee for organizing iron and steel workers at a meeting here today ordered a general strike in the plants of the Bethlehem Steel Co., to become effective next Monday morning at 6 o'clock. The Bethlehem plants employ 40,000 workers.

44,000 Men Idle

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Since employees of the plate department of the Brier Hill Steel Co., voted against going back to work and those of the open hearth and rolling mills departments of the Ohio works of the Carnegie Steel Co., met but failed to vote, Youngstown wondered today what would be the next move in the attempt to settle the steel strike and reopen the mills to the 44,000 men who are idle in this district.

Union men say yesterday's efforts to obtain an expression from the men on the question of returning to work were made by the companies and showed the strength of the strike. The companies contend they had no connection with the meetings.

Negotiations under way between the unions and the Trumbull Steel Co., of Warren are expected by union officials to terminate soon in a satisfactory agreement.

A mass meeting of local railroad brotherhood members has been called for tomorrow afternoon. The purpose has not been revealed.

Both Sides Mark Time

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—Both sides in the steel strike today virtually marked time for Monday. Steel company officials said they did not expect any considerable number of men to return to the mills today, but did not look for a general influx with the beginning of the week.

Strikers planned mass meetings for tomorrow afternoon. Continued on Page Two, First Section

PRIMARY ECHOES AND RECOUNTS

Corbett-Donohoe Contest Reminder of Old Ward 5 Fights—Wagers Undecided

Other Features of the Polling and the Question of the New Charter

The 1919 primaries have come and gone and from now on until Nov. 4 the attentions of the politically elect will be centered on the fights for election. Lowell was one of the principal storm centers of the state during the latter part of the primary campaign and this combined with the well developed heat which came into being in many of the local contests resulted in a great show of interest when the polls were opened. The largest primary vote cast here in many years was recorded last Tuesday.

That the return of hundreds of service men to the city and to their right of suffrage was one of the big reasons for the heavy vote cast is not to be doubted. Although the various service organizations which have been born here since the return of the soldiers and sailors have veered widely from political paths, nevertheless, the members have had informal discussions among themselves as will the members of any organization and the "soldier vote," much discussed and long anticipated, became a reality in several of the contests Tuesday. It will become even more vital and potent in the contests that are yet to be decided both in state and local matters.

Many Surprises

Interest in various contests was very much alive during the day and it didn't die down even when the votes were counted. Proof of this is found in the petitions for recounts in several of the contests, notably the Corbett-Donohoe affair in the 16th representative district and the Eames-Pearson contest in the seventh senatorial. It is doubtful if the recounts will have any weight in changing

TAG DAY FOR SOUTH END CELEBRATION

Preparations for the big reception to the soldiers and sailors of the South End district which is to be held during the early part of next month took a big stride forward today when 100 young women, armed with tags and contribution boxes, stationed themselves in various parts of the city and waged an aggressive campaign for funds.

Fully 7000 tags were placed on sale during the day and contributions ranged anywhere from a nickel to bills of substantial denominations. The young women assembled at headquarters in the store of John F. Roane, Jr., 175 Gorham street, shortly before 10 o'clock this morning and received instructions from the chairman of the tag day committee, Mrs. Teresa McAnnon. Each young woman was given a contribution box and a large number of tags and assigned to a post in the downtown section of the city.

This afternoon the campaign radiated into the residential sections and there were "tag girls" present at the various baseball games held at the local parks and commons.

By noon a large number of the collectors had returned with filled contribution boxes and immediately armed themselves with more tags. From early indications a very substantial sum will be added to the celebration fund when the returns are all in this evening.

Miss Mollie Roane was treasurer of the day and the chairman, Mrs. McAnnon, was assisted by the following in directing the sale: Mrs. John J. Buckley, Mrs. James Hogan, Miss Annie O'Connell, Miss Marietta Markham, Miss Kathleen O'Dea and Miss Hazel McQuade.

In addition to the small tags which were sold to pedestrians, the committee in charge had also prepared 1000 large automobile tags which found a ready sale among motorists. The tags were donated by the Lowell Avenue and Decorating Co., Dutton street.

Committee Meetings

A meeting of the general committee in charge of the celebration has been called for tomorrow afternoon in St. Peter's school hall at 1.45 o'clock. The women of the district will meet together at the school next Tuesday evening to further perfect plans for a dance and whilst party to be held early next month for the benefit of the general fund.

REPORT CIVIL WAR IMMINENT

Alarmist Reports in Rome—Socialists May Clash With Nationalists and Militarists

Navy Reported Even More Dissatisfied Than Army—Cabinet Urged to Quit

ROME, Thursday, Sept. 25.—Alarmist reports are current in this city, one being that a civil war is imminent. On one side would be ranged the nationalist and militarist factions, which would be opposed by the socialists. Several generals are credited with the intention of heading the nationalist faction with a view to controlling the government it being said that they believe the weakness of those in power since the armistice caused the present deadlock. Some of these generals have already been mentioned as being in league with Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio before the Fiume raid with the object of overthrowing by force the Nitti cabinet and replacing it with a military dictatorship.

The navy is represented as being even more dissatisfied than the army having, according to naval officers' statements, suffered more from "the lack of consideration of their Anglo-French colleagues, who have acted as if they were masters of the Adriatic and have favored Jugoslav claims."

Urges Cabinet to Resign

Foreign Minister Tittoni is said to have expressed the belief that the first thing to be done in the present serious situation is for the cabinet to resign, thus eliminating one reason for discord—opposition to men new in power. It is said his intention was the formation of a national cabinet including all the leaders of the chief political parties, which would give the government the greatest possible power under the circumstances. Premier Nitti, instead, considered that the resignation of the cabinet would be an admission either of culpability or weakness, which would make the situation worse.

ANOTHER REAL ESTATE DEAL ON THE WAY

Another big real estate deal is on the way and that is the transfer of the property at the corner of Merrimack and Hanover streets, owned by the J. L. Chaffoux heirs, which it is understood will soon be turned over to Dr. W. H. Pepin, a local dentist, who has occupied the second story of the building for a great many years. It was learned this morning that although the final papers for the transfer of the property have not yet been signed it is a matter of but a few days before the deal is put through.

The property consists of a four-story brick building at the corner of Merrimack and Hanover streets and a two-story wooden building in Hanover street. The Merrimack street property has a store on the street floor, which has been occupied for years by J. C. Mansean, while the second story is occupied by Dr. Pepin, the other two floors consisting of apartments. In the Hanover street house are four small tenements. It is understood that Dr. Pepin is not contemplating any changes for the present at least.

The Merrimack street building is assessed for $15,000 and the land for $250. The assessment on the Hanover street building is $1000 and on the land $1500, making a total assessment for the entire property of $23,750.

NO REPORT ON STRIKE

Committee Which Sought to Avert Police Strike Not to Announce Finding Yet

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—The report of Mayor Peter's citizens' committee, which sought to avert the police strike will not be made public for the present, it was announced today. Chairman James J. Storrow declined to say whether the joint statement of James H. Vahey and John P. Feeney, counsel for the policemen's union, which set forth the strikers' case and demanded that a report of the committee be published, had influenced the committee's decision.

The fund being raised throughout the state for the state guard troops and the policemen who remained on duty has passed the $200,000 mark.

TEXTILE SCHOOL FACES HOUSING PROBLEM

The housing problem, which is more vexing in Lowell at the present time than ever before, is causing the Lowell Textile school considerable worry. When school opens on Monday Principal Eames expects an enrollment of nearly 250 young men and so far a great many of the students have been unable to secure rooming and boarding accommodations.

Practically every available place in Pawtucketville has been taken up and also many students have secured rooms in the Highlands and Centralville, but still a scarcity exists and it has created quite a problem for the faculty to meet. Persons who are willing to give up a room may telephone their names and addresses to the school.

WILL DEFEND FIUME TO BITTER END

PARIS, Sept. 27.—(Havas)—Several newspapers publish a proclamation from Gabriele d'Annunzio to the French people in which he declares he will "defend the city to the bitter end."

"The defenders are ready to bury themselves in the ruins and dare the most cruel death," the proclamation adds.

NEW NEGOTIATIONS ON TREATY SOUGHT

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The chamber of deputies' committee on the German peace treaty was addressed by Premier Clemenceau this morning on the proposition of Andre Lefevre's resolution which seeks to bring about negotiations between the signatories of the treaty with a view to assuring Germany's disarmament. The committee had asked for the government's opinion of the resolution.

M. Clemenceau said he accepted the principle of the resolution, but not the terms in which it was couched. He did not think such a proposition could be admitted as an addition to the treaty but that if adopted, it must be in the form of an invitation to the allies to enter into conversations on the subject of Germany's disarmament.

City Celebrates Winning of National League Pennant—Parade, Banquet

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 27.—The city today celebrated the winning of the National league pennant. A parade was headed by Mayor Galvin, other city officials and August Herrmann. Tonight at a banquet, speeches will be made by Governor Cox, Mayor Galvin and others.

The Chicago Cubs, now playing out the last series on the local grounds, were given a place of honor with the Reds in the line. A feature of the procession was an automobile containing Red baseball players of 1869, Cal McVey, right fielder; George Wright, shortstop; George Taylor, substitute catcher, and the president of the 1869 club, John C. Davis.

EX-U. S. MINISTER TO CHINA STARTS FOR U. S.

TOKIO, Friday, Sept. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Before boarding the steamship Venezuela on which he will go to San Francisco, Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, former United States minister to China, denied today a report that he had been retained by China as political adviser in Washington. He said he was going to Washington to practice law and that he might act as legal counselor for China.

Discussing conditions in China, he said: "I believe Japan holds a trump card, if she will only play it. That is to return everything wrong from China by Germany and to retain only the privilege of entering Shanghai on equal terms with the rest of the world."

WAGE INCREASES IN NAVY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Increased wages for naval officers and enlisted men, based on a sliding scale giving the lower paid officers and men the greater increase, will be recommended to congress by Secretary Daniels when he appears before the senate and house committees Monday. He also will recommend that the payment of commutation and quarters to officers on sea duty, a war time measure which soon would be stopped under the law, be continued during the present fiscal year pending adoption of a permanent policy.

THREAT TO USE ARMED FORCES

All Employes of Railway Men's Union in England Strike—Tieup Complete

Strike Called "War on Society"—Attempt to Force Country to Submit

Mails Carried by Airplanes—May Resort to Bicycles and Roller Skates

LONDON, Sept. 27.—So far as could be learned at 10 o'clock this morning the members of the National Union of Railwaymen had walked out in a body, and the stoppage of service was complete. Telephonic and telegraph reports to the executive committee of the union from distant centres showed that local branches were supporting the committee's action.

Railroad depots here were open this morning but, with the exception of a few people who were not aware of the strike, they were deserted. Even officials of the Southeastern Railway admitted their service had ceased, while subway trains had come to a complete standstill shortly after 10 o'clock. In the big freight yards, motor cars driven by soldiers were carrying off perishable articles which arrived on late trains from outlying sections.

Use Bicycles and Roller Skates

The London subways were tied up. Thousands could not be accommodated by the inadequate bus and tram services and were obliged to walk to work. Many resorted to bicycles and roller skates.

The government is said to be prepared to operate the railroads with armed forces, if necessary. It has issued orders placing all England under a war regime, so far as food and fuel is concerned, and it was stated yesterday the mails would be carried by airplane. So far the employees of the Irish railroads have not struck.

One man was beaten at the Illinois

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—More mills were running today at the United States Steel Corporation plant at Gary, Ind., with officials claiming 2369 men at work. Approximately 4000 men were on the job at the Illinois Steel company, and some sheets were actually rolled yesterday.

More Plants Running

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—From virtually every part of the Pittsburgh district came reports today of preparations by steel companies to resume operations on Monday on a larger scale than any day of the first week of the steel workers' strike.

Strike leaders have been making arrangements to check a movement into the mills and to further cripple or entirely shut down plants that are still in operation.

Cincinnati Steel company officials said

Steel plant yesterday, and at Gary shots were fired when guards dispersed a crowd of strike sympathizers who had stoned their automobile.

From Gary came a report that several cases of rifles had been taken into the United States Steel corporation's plant. Four to five hundred guards were said to be on duty.

A temporary injunction has been issued against picketing at the Pellack plant in South Chicago. The company represented that a federal contract for railroad axles was being held up and that 50 per cent. of the employees desired to return to work.

At Waukegan stoning of automobiles and threats of other violence subsided after 300 deputy sheriffs, including business and professional men were sworn in.

Similar action by Gary citizens was planned. Six hundred men met and formed a citizens' military police organization of 300 men.

A meeting of the steel workers' national committee was called for today to take action on the proposed strike against the Bethlehem Steel company, called for Monday.

Plan to Reopen Mills

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—From virtually every part of the Pittsburgh district came reports today of preparations by steel companies to resume operations on Monday on a larger scale than any day of the first week of the steel workers' strike.

Strike leaders have been making arrangements to check a movement into the mills and to further cripple or entirely shut down plants that are still in operation.

Cincinnati Steel company officials said

today they were going along smoothly with increased forces in the plants the company is operating.

W. B. Rubin, of New York, general counsel for the strikers, arrived here today to take up the union's fight for free speech and free assembly.

Soon after he arrived at union headquarters word was received from Messen, Pa., that the sheriff of Westmoreland county had ordered the closing of the organizers' office at that place. The strikers' committee was ordered to reopen the office and told to tell the sheriff that it would remain open as long as the "steel trust" keeps its offices open, Rubin said.

Vote to Return to Work

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Employees of the Ohio works who held a meeting last night voted by 52 to 29 to return to work, "when the proper time presents itself," according to a statement given out after the meeting. A committee was appointed, the statement said, to induce railroad men in the mill yards to join the movement to return.

More Strikers Return

GARY, Ind., Sept. 27.—Observers reported that more strikers returned to work today at the Indiana Steel Co. plant of the United States Steel corporation than at any time since the beginning of the strike. The number who went back today was estimated at 200 to 300. The company, it is said,

KLOBY AND LEONARD

MAY MEET OCT. 12

LAWRENCE, Sept. 27.—Jack Cuddy, new arena will be erected at the West street location. This was definitely decided yesterday. The arena is to seat 15,000 and men are now at work getting the bleachers built. The work is being carried on in a spare shed on West street, where the different pieces are prepared. They will then be put together and it requires but a short time to have the arena ready for the public.

Cuddy plans his first boxing show on Columbus day. The match he is now trying to get for local fans is Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, and Tommy Kloby, Corcoran, of this city at 133 pounds. Kloby expresses himself as willing. Cuddy is now in touch with Leonard. Leonard, like all the champions, however, has been fighting only no-decision bouts for some time and it may be that he will hold out for the same kind of a fight here.

Lowell Boxers at Devens

Lowell boxers who appeared at the weekly show up to Camp Devens on Thursday night say "Tip" Quinn was handed a raw decision in his bout with Swanson. Over 4000 attended the big tournament and Quinn and Swanson were the principals in the main event. The bout went the limit and was a whirlwind of action from bell to bell. When the referee pointed to Swanson, the Lowell men say, much dissatisfaction was shown. Willie Corbett of Somerville won from Frankie West of Lowell in three rounds and Tommy Fall, the Lowell pepper box, and Jimmy Manning of South Boston boxed a fast six round draw. Benny Osthus of Boston refereed.

UNBEATEN PACER WINS

ARCH CITY STAKE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 27.—Direct C. B. Bennett, unbeaten pacer, since opening of the North Randall meet, won another stake here yesterday when capturing the Arch City 2.10 race, purse $3000, in straight heats, with Goldie Todd, Frank Dewey, Gladys B. and Baroness Edgewood in the field.

Owing to the great speed shown by Baroness Edgewood last week in her victory in a slow class race, she sold as a big second choice, but failed to get in the money, while Direct C. Bennett was bringing $300 in the auction, this western mare fetched $200. Goldie Todd was driven by Guy Lee. She was slightly lame and this increased so that she was shut out in the third heat. Her trouble is caused by a splint.

Murphy drove Direct C. Bennett every event after miles just a fraction over 2.10. He went out each heat and kept the lead the entire route.

The Poughkeepsie reinsman also won in the 2.15 class trot with Dr. Nick. The Doctor and Baroness Cogan were practically even favorites in the early auctions. It was Dr. Nick's third victory of the present meeting.

In the 2.05 pace, second division, Aquila Dillon, the western gelding, won in straight heats. He became a new 2.05 pacer in the second trip which he finished in 2.04 1/2. Delec Dillon, the western gelding, won in two of the three heats.

In the 2.12 pace, Royal Earl, favorite, was selling at $50 to $55 for the field. He lost the first to Cherry Willis, who beat out Nels Zito Zombro by a nose. Excan won in the second and third heats then without missing a hair.

TY COBB AGAIN CHAMP

Leading Batter for 12th Time

in 13 Years—Cravath

Tops National League

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The closing days of the baseball season finds Ty Cobb in possession of the American league batting championship for the 12th time in 13 years, according to unofficial averages today. He is leading the race with a mark of .379, 23 points ahead of Veach, his teammate.

The only year in which Cobb was deposed from the batting championship was in 1916, when Tris Speaker forced him out of the coveted position. Figures include games of Wednesday. Babe Ruth, the home run marvel, is in seventh place in the list of batting leaders with an average of .323. He has driven out 28 homers for world's record and leads the league in extra base hitting, having stratched 138 safe blows for a total of 280 bases. He also leads in scoring, having counted 102 runs.

Eddie Collins is topping the base stealers with 32, with George Sisler next in the list with 25. Cobb and Rice of Washington are trailing in third place with 2 each.

Other leading American league batters for the season are: Jackson, Chicago, .345; Sister, St. Louis, .341; Tobin, St. Louis, .326; Hellman, Detroit, .323; Ruth, Boston, .323; Flagstead, Detroit, .320; Rice, Washington, .319; Collins, Chicago, .317; Peckinpaugh, New York, .316.

Gavvy Cravath, manager of the Philadelphia club, is ahead in the race for the National league batting championship. He is leading the race with an average of .323, although the race is close. The averages show him in the lead with .323, with Jim Thorpe five points behind him.

Burns of New York, who crowded Heinie Groh, the Cincinnati third baseman, out of the commanding position in scoring, managed to clinch the lead of one run. Burns has registered 70 scores. Zack Wheat, the Brooklyn veteran, and Roush are fighting it out for honors in total bases. Roush has a total of 214, while Wheat's mark is 213.

Cutshaw of Pittsburgh is in no danger of being deposed as the leading base stealer, his record of 35 being high. Bigbee, a teammate, is next in line with 29. Cravath's home run record of 11 remains unchallenged. The leading National league batters for 60 or more games: Roush, Cincinnati, .322; Carey, Pittsburgh, .312; Groh, Cincinnati, .311; Meusel, Philadelphia, .310; Hornsby, St. Louis, .309; Chicago, .309; Stock, St. Louis, .308; Myers, Brooklyn, .305; Hofke, Boston, .297; Wheat, Brooklyn, .295.

The Call'em

It seems hardly a month ago that the 16 major league teams started out on their 1919 campaign for honors, yet today marks the closing of another season. It has been a season of surprises, records and huge attendances. The American league ran true to form and despite much more evenly than did the other organization, but who among us in April would have said that the Red Sox, world champions of 1918, would finish outside the first division this year? The answer, of course, is no.

The Sox, however, have waged a rugged battle, and in the end have managed to finish in the position of runner-up. His worried Gleason at every turn. Detroit's fierce attack did not reduce the Sox's position, but who among us in April would have said that the Red Sox, world champions of 1918, would finish outside the first division this year? a large measure they resemble the harem-Scarum Braves of five years ago and they enter the big classic with all the psychology of the situation on their side of the fence. They have momentum. Moran has pulled them from practically nowhere to the top. Their rush has been terrific and their pace, killing to other clubs. Like a meteor, if its journey is not spent, they will rocket through the short series, yet if the crest has been reached Chicago will win. The series may easily develop into a battle of pitchers—Reuther and Eller against Cicotte and Williams with the other members of both staffs in reserve.

New England Fair

We doubt if any other section of the country compares with New England during the month of September. It is the month of fairs and horse racing. In places such as Unity, Cherryville and Hartland, Me., Greenfield, Mass., Great Barrington, Barre, Vt., Rochester, N. H., St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Union and Farmington, Me., the farmer drives in behind his trotter and with only small purses as an incentive practically drives for the love of the sport. They are an institution which should never be allowed to die.

FOOTBALL MAKES BOW ON

PRE-WAR BASIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—With the baseball season on the wane, intercollegiate football made its initial bow to the public today on a pre-war basis on nearly 30 gridirons throughout the country. This season marks the 50th anniversary of the game in America.

Harvard, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Brown and Army were among the better known eleven in the east starting today, while Yale, Cornell and the remainder of the eastern colleges will open their season next week.

From all the training camps has come word that interest in the autumn sport is greater than before. The squads of players are larger than in pre-war days and, apparently, the material is fully up to the standard.

At many colleges, particularly at Yale, Harvard, Cornell and Princeton, new coaching staffs are in charge.

Among the more important games on today's schedule were:

Harvard vs. Brown at Cambridge; Pennsylvania vs. Bucknell at Philadelphia; Dartmouth vs. Springfield at Hanover; Army vs. Middlebury at West Point; Brown vs. Rhode Island State at Providence.

SERVICE TEAM

HERE TOMORROW

Baseball fans will welcome the news of a game to be played tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon on the South common between the Bellevues and a service team from Camp Devens. The proceeds of the contest will roll into the coffers of the general committee in charge of the coming South End celebration and a huge crowd is expected. The brand of ball on tap will be of the best for the Bellevues are known to be a fast working bunch and the team from Devens has beaten everything in sight at the cantonment.

BUILD FOOT BRIDGE

IN HALE STREET

Residents of upper Chelmsford street and upper Gorham street who have been inconvenienced for several weeks past because of the closing of the Hale street bridge for repairs by the Boston & Maine railroad will be heartened by the news that Mayor Perry D. Thompson has succeeded in having the railroad authorities agree to erect a foot bridge there while the big bridge is being repaired. The temporary bridge will probably be open to travel by Wednesday of next week, the Boston & Maine officials have informed the mayor.

FOOTBALL CHALLENGE

The Tremont football eleven of Lawrence is making a fast team in Lowell of an average weight of 150 pounds. Saturday, October 4, is an open date in Lawrence and if a local team wants a return game, it is being promised. Address communications to William Mendie, 410 Haverhill street, Lawrence.

SUGAR! SUGAR! SUGAR!

The people of Lowell are losing patience over the shortage of sugar and with very good reason. Some large stores have sugar for their customers but few of the smaller in which the poor leave most of their money have any sugar. They say they cannot find it. Yet we learn that in neighboring cities the people have no difficulty—or at least some of them have no difficulty—in securing all the sugar they want. But they must "know the ropes" so to speak.

It is safe to say that thousands of families in New England cities, families having children in arms, are unable to get sugar for their most vital needs.

The foreign element who are unacquainted with the wire pulling by which sugar is secured in most places, have nobody to speak for them and although they may have little ones dying for lack of sugar, they must go without it while most of the families which have no youngsters have all they need.

The situation in Lowell is becoming quite tense and something must be done to meet it, either by Mayor Thompson or the municipal council as a body.

If any enterprising store announces sugar for sale, the rush will be so great that the supply will be all sold out in a few hours. The time has arrived when the government at Washington should adopt some plan of rationing the sugar supply. We cannot understand how some dealers get sugar while others get none.

It may be that profiteers are holding sugar for the highest bidders. If so, then that is a matter for the government to attend to. There is need of such a man as Hoover on the job of distributing sugar. Hoover is here. He is willing to take charge of this business. Why not give him the chance and thus relieve the sugar famine due either to the work of speculators or else to the lack of proper distribution. There is little doubt that far too much of our sugar supply is being shipped abroad because the dealers and speculators can thus make more of their holdings than they can in any other way.

If Mr. Hoover were on the job, he would see that the sugar supply of the country would be fairly distributed and that the poor would get their share of what is available.

It seems that the sugar famine has reached a point in Lowell at which Mayor Thompson should step in to assist the people of this city in getting at least what will meet their urgent needs.

This is the coming season and with an abundant fruit crop, there is no sugar with which to preserve the surplus supply. The scarcity at present in Lowell is worse than any that prevailed during the war. What's to be done about it? Will the little children of the city be allowed to die for want of sugar or will the authorities, local or federal, do anything to relieve the situation? Unless something be done, there will be a great increase in infant mortality already alarmingly high. How long must the poor suffer from this state of affairs?

not been reported to the house, it is pointed to as proof of republican interest.

This is practically the same bill as one introduced on the first day of the special session by Rep. Ferris of Oklahoma, a democrat. This is but one of many instances in which democratic measures have been kidnapped by the republicans and after a while put out as the original conception of some republican. Numerous bonus bills have been introduced but none has seen the light nor are they likely to be removed from their resting place in the graveyard of political measures chloroformed by the republicans.

Democratic leaders are trying to force the republicans to take action on some of the pending democratic bills for the soldiers, inasmuch as they have failed to adopt any acceptable measure of their own. Yet this is the party that boasts of constructive ability.

THE "FLU"

Dr. Carey of the state board of health, department of communicable diseases, believes there will be no epidemic of influenza this year. At this time last year the epidemic was raging and it is perhaps from the absence of the disease at present that Dr. Carey assumes it will not reach us this season. It is to be hoped that the doctor's statement will be verified, but it is well, at the same time, to be prepared for such a visitation in case it should come. Unfortunately even the most eminent doctors do not seem to know very much more of the idiosyncrasies of the "flu" than do ordinary laymen, consequently, it is just as well to be on the safe side and prepare to meet the disease by increasing our powers of resistance and providing for proper treatment.

Agent Francis O'Hare of the local board of health has looked over the field and communicated with the agencies which rendered such excellent service last year with a view to calling in their aid should an epidemic visit Lowell this year. He is very anxious that a part of the tuberculosis hospital be set aside for the purpose of isolating cases of influenza, should they become numerous. Also he has taken steps to warn those who may be afflicted with this disease to report it promptly to the health department. Thus far the number of cases reported is very small, but as already stated, there is no telling as to when, where or how the "flu" may put in an appearance.

RESCIND THIS RULE

The Sun has already shown up the hardships which young teachers endure in going into country towns to get the two years' experience necessary before they can be selected as teachers in the schools of Lowell.

If an investigation were made as to the conditions under which some of these young teachers have to work, we believe the people of Lowell would demand that this rule be either abolished forthwith, or suspended until the return of normal economic conditions. In many cases it is a fact that the salary these young ladies receive, is not adequate to support them and that in a large proportion of cases, they cannot find suitable boarding places at any price. They have to put up with conditions much beneath the dignity of their calling, and this is why we say this rule should be rescinded.

Arrangements could easily be made under which the teachers might have a little more privacy either before or after graduation from the Normal school, so as to render unnecessary this expedient of going into the woods for expediency. Beyond the mere matter of having a little responsibility, the experience they get during these two years, is of little use to them. It is not to be compared to what they would get if working side by side with experienced teachers in the schools of Lowell or under the supervision of trained principals.

It might be well for the school board, now that it has in hand the task of reorganizing the school system, to make some other arrangement for affording the young teachers an opportunity for practice in the schools to which they look for a permanent place as part of the teaching force.

WHERE CONGRESS LAGS

Despite the agitation in behalf of soldiers and sailors for some practical methods of offering them an opportunity to settle on farms, the republican majority in the house of representatives has thus far shown no desire to do anything definite in this direction. The democratic opposition charges an entire lack of constructive ability against republican leaders not only on this matter, but on many others even of greater importance.

Having failed to reach any agreement on the Model-Soldier-Land soldiers' land bill, the republicans are now trying to pass the buck by awaiting the convention of the American Legion to be held at Minneapolis, in November, in order to get some ideas from the soldiers themselves. But the soldiers are usually slow to react and this is a due appreciation of their services.

After thinking so many democratic measures in favor of the soldiers, the republicans had to bring forward a "water-gate" of some kind and Rep. King Swope, a newly elected member and service man from Kentucky, has been selected to carry the bluff. He introduced a bill providing for six months' pay for every soldier and sailor and although the measure has

DON'T DO IT

There has been some talk of a disposition on the part of some employers to discharge members of the State Guard, detained in Boston. It is true that the stay of the guardsmen in Boston is much longer than was anticipated, but in spite of that fact, it would be regarded as unpatriotic to fill the places of any of these men and tell them when they return that they are not wanted. We are confident that no employer of members of the State Guard will place himself in any such unenviable position. On the contrary most employers have decided to pay the guards while in Boston.

There are some members of the State Guard, however, held in Boston, who might render much better service to the state by attending to business at home. We refer to such men as Supt. Molloy of the Lowell public schools and Principal Fisher of the Vocational school. Surely there is a sufficient number of men ready to do police duty in Boston without calling away public officials whose absence may interfere with the progress of education in other cities. Supt. Molloy has on hand the duty of revising the course of studies in the local schools under the plan providing for junior high schools. To do that work effectively would require several months of careful study and research, and if the state can ill Mr. Molloy's place acceptably, he should be allowed to resume his duties as head of the local school department.

LET THE TRUTH APPEAR

Lawyers Vahey and Feeney, counsel for the police of Boston, demand that the whole truth be told about the Boston police strike.

If there is any attempt to suppress the policemen's side of the case, it should be promptly abandoned. There is no reason why the rights of the officers should be overruled or the facts in their side of the case suppressed. The people of Massachusetts want to be fair to all classes so far as we are aware, and to stifle the voice of any body of citizens, is not in accordance with the American idea of popular rights.

Particularly is this so in case of men charged with an offense bordering on treason. There should be no objection to complying with the demand of Lawyer Vahey that the whole truth be told about the police strike in Boston. Most people supposed the truth had been told. If anything is held back, it should be brought out.

THE PRESIDENT'S PLACE

Judging from the state of affairs resulting from the steel strike the threat of the coal miners, the railroad brotherhoods and other crafts, it is high time that President Wilson got back to Washington to devote his time to the task of promoting domestic and industrial peace. After spending seven months in France, this further absence from Washington is calculated to intensify the effect of his absence abroad. The home situation is becoming so serious that it should receive his attention daily in order that the radical elements may not succeed in bringing about a situation which may call for the use of military force.

TEACHERS' DEMANDS

Thus far it appears that no step has been taken to secure for the teachers of our public schools the increase in salaries to which they are entitled. We are now practically within a few months of the end of the year and within that time the school board and municipal council should devise ways and means of meeting the just demands of the teachers of Lowell. If this increase which must come eventually is delayed too long, it should be retroactive when it comes. In no case should it date later than the first of January next year. That is putting it off from six months to a year longer than the circumstances of the case would justify.

The milk we drink is being sold by the farmer, the original producer, at a direct loss of more than four cents per quart, says an expert of the New England Milk Producers' association. He comes down to old farms and says that a quart of milk a farmer sells for a cent, costs him 12.37 to produce. He goes on to state the need of money necessary to be paid for affording the young teachers an opportunity for practice in the schools to which they look for a permanent place as part of the teaching force.

The President's Story

President Wilson is most often introduced as a "great man," "leader of world's democracy," "the apostle of democracy" and like eulogiums.

He frequently makes a humorous comment on these introductions, as, for instance, at Denver, when he said with a characteristic smile: "I know perfectly well that it would be embarrassing after that introduction to stand up here and let you look at the 'great man.' If I may tell a very trifling story, my feeling is that of a very unsophisticated old country woman who went into a side show at a circus and saw, or thought that she saw, a man read a newspaper through a two-inch board. She said, 'Here, let me get out, this is no place for me to be with these thin things on.'"

Haven't You Often Wondered

1. Why a rubber plant makes such a hit with the woman it took you four years to win?
2. Why you can't tie a four-in-hand so it looks like anything but a used bath towel?
3. Why it is that the collar button you buy on Sunday is always the last one in the house?
4. Why it is that everybody seems to have his rent paid and money in the bank except yourself?
5. Why you will walk anywhere from four to nine miles around a billiard table when you're so tired that you'd holler like a loon if your wife asked you to go to the drugstore and get a stamp?
6. Why it is that you'll sit here and read this fool stuff when you've got Shakespeare, Goldsmith, Kipling and Arnold Bennett mouldering on your book shelves?—Buffalo News.

Our Own United States

A public speaker recently pointed out that while the United States has only 6 percent of the population of the world and only 7 percent of the land, it produces:

- Sixty percent of the world's supply of copper.
- Forty percent of the world's supply of lead.
- Fifty percent of the world's supply of zinc.
- Sixty percent of the world's supply of aluminum.
- Sixty-six percent of the world's supply of oil.
- Seventy-five percent of the world's supply of corn.
- Sixty percent of the world's supply of cotton.
- Forty percent of the world's supply of silver.
- Fifty-two percent of the world's supply of coal.
- Forty percent of the world's supply of iron and steel.
- Twenty percent of the world's supply of gold.
- Eighty percent of the world's supply of automobiles.
- Twenty-five percent of the world's supply of wheat, and refines 30 percent of the copper and operates 40 percent of the world's railroads.

Mothers

When, in the cool of night, His mother wakes, She rises, and without a light, Steals, velvet-shod, to where his breathing makes Soft music, as she stands Feeling with unfeeling hands, And from his chest to his chin She tucks him softly, gently in, Breathing a blessing on his rest, Dreaming herself more blest.

When, in the cooling keep Of my last bed, If Mother Earth shall soothe me as I sleep, And gently press the sword above my head, Let I should lose the gain Of sleep and wake to fever and to pain, O, I shall know the while, And though I be too slumberous to smile, Yet I shall struggle closer, wrapped and pressed, In the great Mother breast.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Trying place for sweethearts for years innumerable; haven of rest for shoppers tired after hours spent at the city's bargain counters; known by all, both young and old as a resting place for tired feet—the old waiting room of the local street railway at Merrimack square passes out of existence this evening, probably never to return.

That this old and well known landmark will be missed, and sadly missed, is indisputable. But in common with waiting rooms throughout all cities where the Eastern Massachusetts lines extend, it will be abolished for the sake of greater economy, and this evening is set as the time for its passing. What the space occupied by it for many years will be used for, as well as the offices above which have been occupied by the Lowell state guard companies to report at once for police duty in Boston was received by the city people much as a matter of course and the subsequent tour of patrolling has received but casual recognition. Of course, immediate families of the guardsmen appreciate the fact that they are away, but most of us have been prone to forget these volunteer militiamen almost entirely. For the most part their guard duty is fatiguing and confining and the men would welcome some slight remembrances on the part of their fellow citizens. A barrel of apples, a crate of peaches—anything out of the ordinary which might make the men feel that they are

A CRIPPLE FOR THREE YEARS

Helpless In Bed With Rheumatism Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO
R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.
"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit. Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-A-Tives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets). Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down. I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place!"

occupied by the clerical force of the company, is known only to representatives of the Parker estate, owners of the Grosvenor building.

Although originally intended for the use of street car patrons waiting for their homeward bound cars to come snooping around the loop, the waiting room has been used for many other purposes, some of them probably undreamed of by its original sponsors.

How many married couples today can trace their present happy marital existence—we'll suppose they're happy, anyway—to that first meeting in the waiting room, is unknown, but they must number hundreds. And possibly—mind you, we said possibly—there are many divorces which might be traced back to that time when one member of the two who had signed up to love, honor and obey for ever and ever left his or her native hearth to meet a "friend" in these classic shades under which they shouldn't have met at all.

Strangers to the city who planned to drop in and renew old acquaintances or visit relatives—they, too, met at the waiting room, as a natural thing.

It was a great place of refuge in case of sudden storms, when one got caught without raincoat or umbrella. In fact, it was such an ingratiating refuge that if one didn't hurry he found himself too late to secure shelter.

And many of the male contingent will have to find a new smoking room in the downtown district. "Why," you may say, "the room was plastered with posters and signs forbidding all and sundry to flirt with Mildred Nicotine while waiting there." True enough, but there are many Lowell folks who never did believe in signs.

Many a weary, hungry and homeless puppy, who has sneaked his way into the dispatcher's office at the rear of the waiting room and been fed and warmed, will miss that friendly shelter. For the dispatcher's office, like all the "fixings" of the establishment, will be there no longer after tonight.

The morning smile of those genial men known as starters will be missed from the waiting room, but here is this consoling fact that one will be able to locate them prowling about the Howe building corner, on the second floor of which, part of the company's force will take up new quarters.

Another thing to bear in mind is that the "missing articles" department, where is to be found an assortment of things left absent-mindedly on street cars including anything from false teeth to auto tires, will have been moved to the Howe building office—so if you've missed anything recently try your luck there. This doesn't include your wife, however.

Yes, the old waiting room will be sadly missed. But it was a fine old institution while it lasted, we'll tell the world.

The order which came a week or so ago to the Lowell state guard companies to report at once for police duty in Boston was received by the city people much as a matter of course and the subsequent tour of patrolling has received but casual recognition. Of course, immediate families of the guardsmen appreciate the fact that they are away, but most of us have been prone to forget these volunteer militiamen almost entirely. For the most part their guard duty is fatiguing and confining and the men would welcome some slight remembrances on the part of their fellow citizens. going about their daily work with at least the good will of the home folks as a tonic. Furthermore, we understand that their feeling of isolation has been aggravated somewhat because companies of men from other cities and towns have been remembered with gifts of some sort for the whole outfit. Lawrence has not forgotten her guardsmen, nor has Worcester. Don't think, please, that the Lowell men have grumbled, they have not, but naturally they cannot keep down a little feeling of loneliness when those about them get a crate of this and a barrel of that, while they get nothing but rations. You know how you feel when away and everyone else except you gets a letter from home. Well, the Lowell men feel substantially the same in a lesser degree. Let's get together and send them something—the city can spare a few dollars for a wee bit of missionary work.

That outing of the Lowell Fish and Game association Thursday afternoon was full of good things and many happy experiences but it is to be doubted sincerely if there was anyone there who had a more happy time than did Simon B. Harris, president of the organization and one of its most ardent workers. Mr. Harris was right in his element among the sportsmen and when the opportunity came for him to get in a bit of oratory he rose to the occasion unflinchingly. He had occasion to refer to Daniel Webster in his little address of welcome to the soldier and sailor members of the association and the reference brought to mind the fact that Mr. Harris was relatively in the same position as was the famous orator of by-gone days. He was addressing an audience of veterans after a great war. And who of the present day can say that Mr. Harris put less effort in his brief address than did the honored Webster whose address has come thundering down through the generations? For weeks in advance the president had planned and worked to make Thursday's affair a success and everyone of the 600 members and guests who were present will vouch that his efforts bore gratifying results.

We have before us 10 words, 10 words in fairly general use, which at first glance look like any ordinary decade of verbs, adverbs, etc. They have been grouped together by a college president and used by him in a sort of spelling bee among his graduates. He says that any man or woman who is able to spell the 10 correctly is a smart male or female and we agree with him. Of course, we believe there are multitudes of smart persons who will fall down on the spelling of one or two of them, for we have tested several friends who we are prone to consider in the category of "smart" and who also belong in this class through virtue of their own admittance. However, we are going to give you the words and let you try the experiment for yourself. Don't be too severe in your criticism if this or that friend fails to spell each correctly, for we doubt your own ability had you not had the opportunity to read the list beforehand. They are these:

STEAM SHOVEL IS BIG TIME SAVER

Work on the laying of the state highway on the land extending along the Merrimack river in First street has been started and a feature of the job is the use of the steam shovel for removing the slope and filling in the roadbed. The contract for the job has been given to an out-of-town firm, but the shovel that is being used is that owned by Patrick Cogger, the well known dealer of crushed stone, gravel, etc. This shovel was purchased by Mr. Cogger a few months ago and has been at work practically all the time. It is a money and time saver and all who have had occasion to use it or see it at work declare it is all to the good. Mr. Cogger also undertakes contracts for heavy teaming. This place of business is at 433 Riverside street.

CAPTURED HEN THIEF

A notorious chicken thief was caught last evening, and is now lodged at Lowell police headquarters. It is rather problematical whether he will be called upon to stand trial, though; in fact, he is more likely to end his days via the gas box route. For he's just a mongrel dog, who was "arrested" by Mrs. Daniel Lynch, 153 Moore street, wife of Patrolman Lynch, a member of the city's "Innocent." The charge against him is that he did feloniously, unlawfully and with malice aforethought steal, kill and eat eight of Mrs. Lynch's choice pullets in the past week.

INJURED COW KILLED

A valuable Jersey cow fell in the cattle car in which it was passing through Lowell late yesterday and was so badly injured that C. Fred Gilmore of the Humane society was forced to kill it.

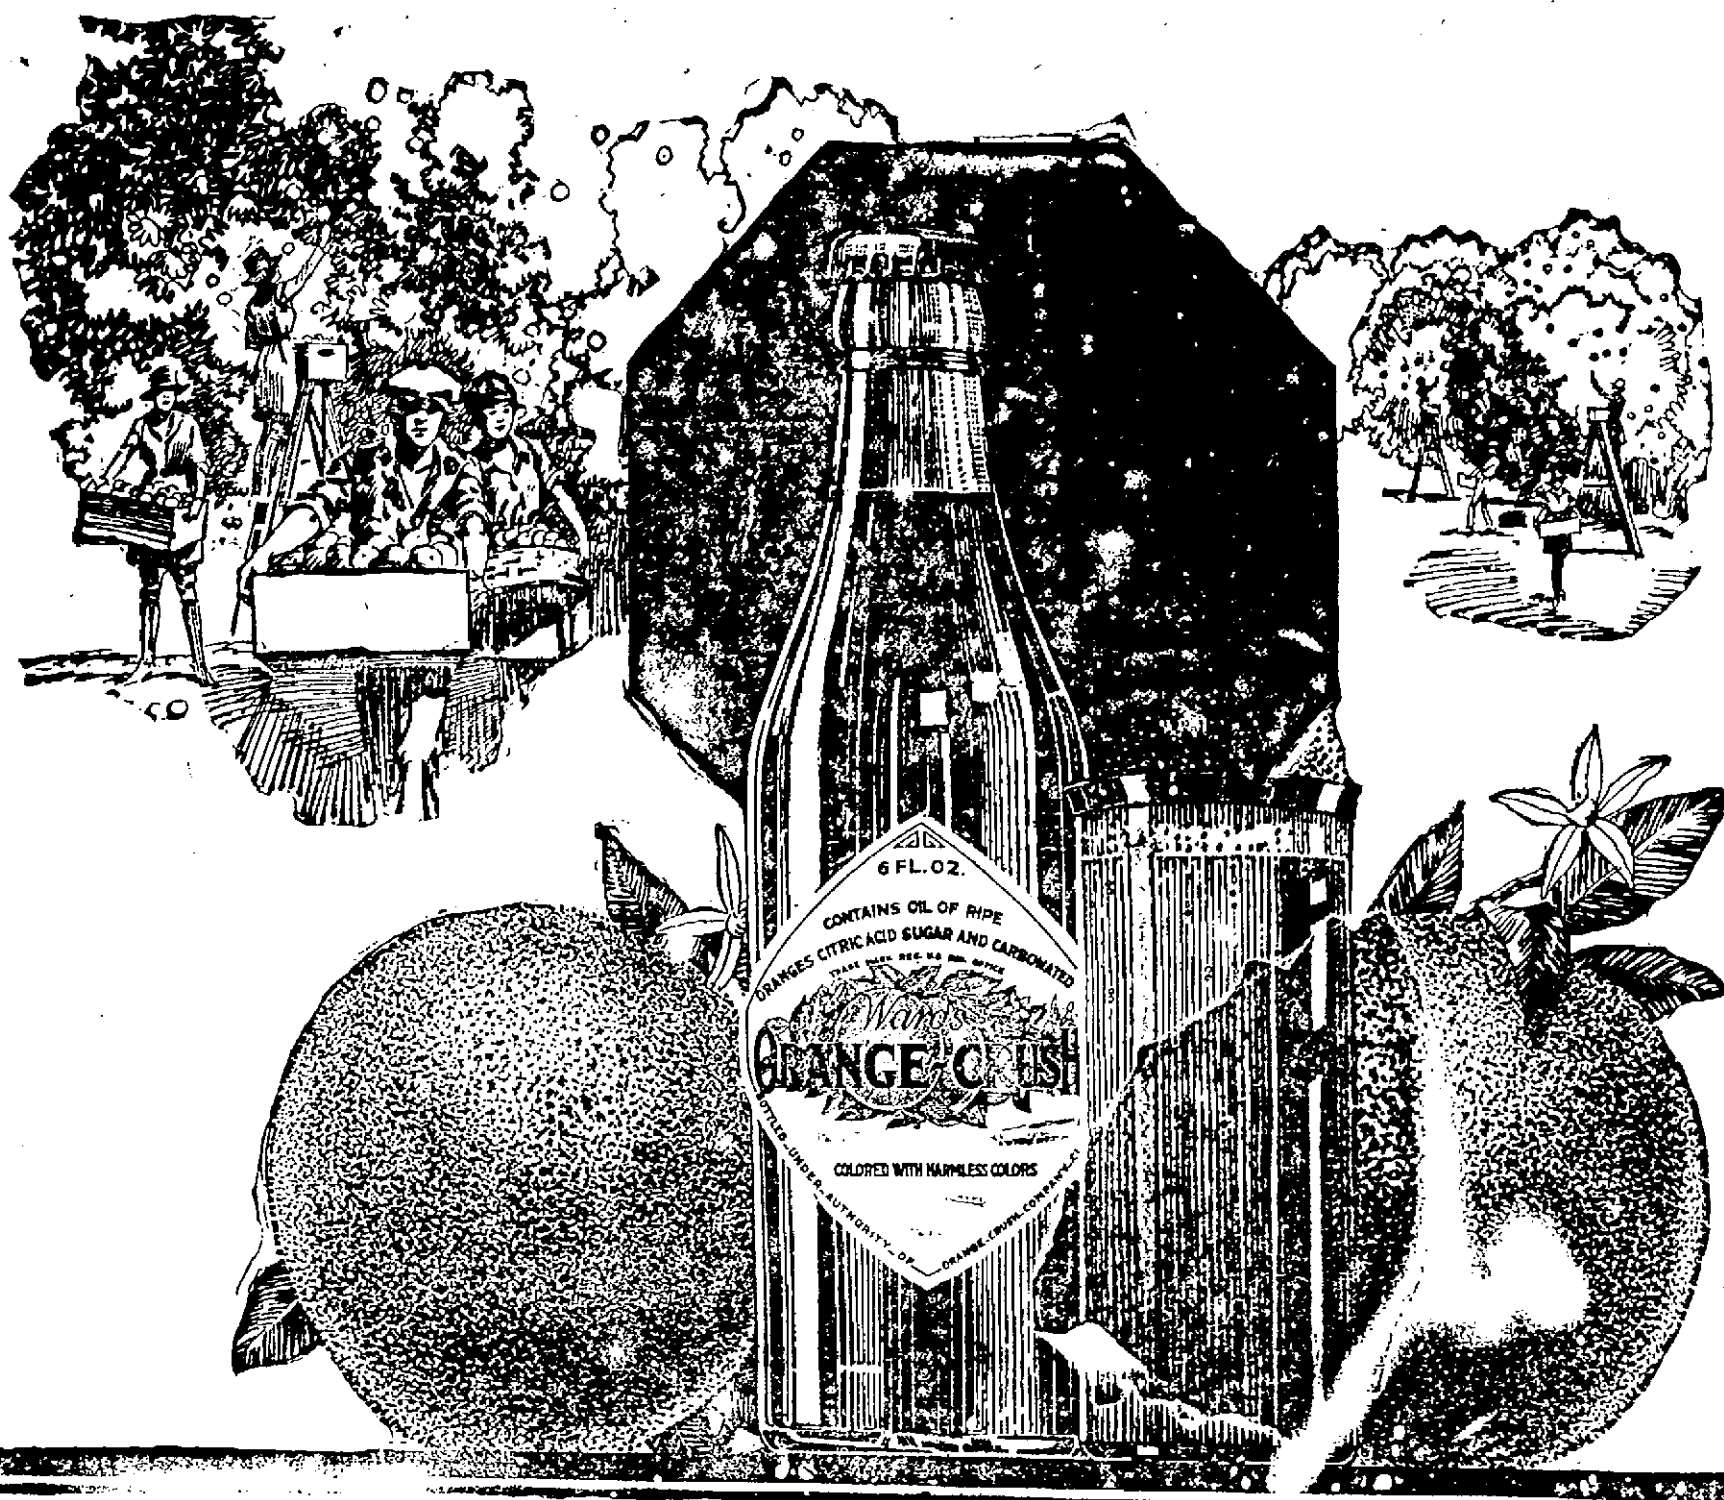

PREPARING FOR INFLUENZA

This dread disease seems to be creeping in again and the doctors and nurses and health authorities are busy making preparations to handle it. It is thought that if people would take the trouble to build themselves up and fortify in a good, rugged, physical condition, they would have a much better chance of escaping this dreadful disease.

If you are weak and tired out and run down and unable to feel the necessary rest to bring yourself into first-class condition, probably you had better take IRON-LAX-TONIC, which comes to be an especially effective combination for just such cases. There is the laxative which keeps the system free from all waste material and then there is the invaluable iron in a form easy to be taken up for the benefit of the blood and general strength. There are a good many preparations containing iron in one form or another, but only one IRON-LAX-TONIC tablet and many grateful people acknowledge its benefits. For example, Mrs. Hugh Connell, who lives at 125 Vernon St., Wakefield, Mass., stated: "I was troubled with gas on the stomach, indigestion and poor appetite. I could not sleep well, which made me more or less nervous. I had taken three bottles of IRON-LAX-TONIC. I feel entirely different. I feel myself gaining all the time. I am telling all my friends about IRON-LAX-TONIC and what it has done for me."

Now is the time to take IRON-LAX-TONIC and get yourself in first class condition and health. You get yourself strong and vigorous and you will have a much better chance of warding off dangerous diseases.

IRON-LAX-TONIC is sold in all first class Drug Stores everywhere.—Adv.

WANTS CHAIRMANSHIP OF NEW BOARD

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Sept. 27.—With the approach of the time for the selection of the heads of the 29 departments which are to be created under the consolidation of commissions act, much interest is being shown here as to what action Merrimack valley interests are taking relative to the attempt of John N. Cole of Andover to obtain the chairmanship of the new public works department.

That department will be composed of the present state high commission and the commission on waterways and public lands. Col. William D. Sohler of Beverly is chairman of the high-way board while Mr. Cole is the head of the waterways and public lands organization. Mr. Cole is after the chairmanship of the consolidated commission, while Col. Sohler is said to be a tentative candidate.

Upon the selection of the chairman of this new board rests the question whether the Merrimack will remain a stream used occasionally by the textile mills along its banks or whether it will be developed into a mighty waterway used for the benefit of the hundreds of thousands of people in the valley.

Mr. Cole, with a reputation for consistency, has never been more consistent than in his continuous opposition to the development of the river on the shores of which he has lived all his life. Ever since he was appointed to the chairmanship of the commission on waterways and public lands three years ago, he has opposed the legislative bill for the deepening of the river, providing that a similar amount was voted by the federal government.

In 1917, when the bill was under consideration before the legislative committee it was violently opposed by Mr. Cole on the ground that the improvements contemplated did not justify the cost to be borne by the state. In this effort to block the passage of the legislation he had the whole-hearted assistance of Frank E. Dunbar, attorney for the Essex company, which controls the water rights along the river in the vicinity of Lawrence for the benefit of the mill interests of that city.

Prominent in advocating the development of the river at that time were Congressman Augustus Gardner, who later made the supreme sacrifice during the war; John Jacob Rogers of Lowell and Michael Phelan of Lynn, all of whom came from Washington to the special purpose of favoring the legislation. Others included Andrew Sutherland, of Lawrence. Senator Arthur L. Mason of Haverhill, Representatives Victor Jewett and Henry Achin of Lowell, Representative Michael Jordan of Lawrence and more than 200 business men and other leading citizens of the valley communities.

Their efforts were successful, despite the drive of Mr. Cole and his co-worker Mr. Dunbar. By a substantial majority the bill passed both branches of the legislature, after having been approved by the ways and means committee, usually "Missouri-an" then because of enormous war-time expenditures. On reaching Governor McCall, however, it was vetoed because of the large appropriation it entailed at a time when the state was appropriating millions for the successful prosecution of the war.

The first Japanese to come to America was a 14-year-old boy who had been shipwrecked and picked up by an American sailing vessel.

SEVEN BARKS

It may be possible that you don't know what SEVEN BARKS stands for, so we will enlighten you: It is a safe, remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of seven different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended and for nearly 50 years has been a reliable remedy for indigestion, constipation, liver, kidney and stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has never been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for nearly a half century, and purely upon its merits.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands of families doctors' bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive, only 50 cents per bottle, and the dose is from 10 to 20 drops in a little water after meals.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with biliousness, indigestion, liver or kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results.

Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS; if he does not happen to have it, he will get it for you—Adv.

BIG INCREASE HERE IN VALUATION

The announcement of the list of heavy taxpayers for 1919 by the board of assessors give rise to an interesting comparison of downtown property valuation at the present time with that of ten years ago. On the whole valuation in the heart of the city has increased from 50 to 110 per cent. The greatest jump during the decade has been at Central and Merrimack streets where land is valued at $30 per square foot. Many new buildings have been erected during that time and the assessors say that the biggest part of the increase in valuation has come during the past two or three years.

Property valuations have risen from $79,849,418.85 in 1910 to $167,259,813 this year. The erection of new buildings in place of interior ones has, of course, had much to do with increased property valuation. Examples of this are the Strand Theatre building, the Bradley building in Central street and The Sun building in the square.

The Chalfoux building at Merrimack and Central streets stands on the most valuable land in Lowell in the judgment of the assessors. It is assessed for $39.78 a square foot. In 1910 it was $13 a square foot, or an increase of about 110 per cent. The building is valued at $335,000. In 1910 it was valued at $137,550.

Among other buildings which have jumped tremendously in valuation in the past ten years are the property at 115-131 Central street, owned by Motley & Kimball, which has increased about 800 per cent, the property at Prescott and Central streets owned by Laura G. Gerrish, where there has

FORMER GERMAN LINERS

Eight Ships Allocated to U. S. to Be Turned Over to Shipping Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The eight former German liners allocated to the United States after the armistice, including the former Hamburg-American steamer Imperator, the second largest ship afloat, are to be turned over to the shipping board by the war department, as soon as necessary surveys can be made.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Cunard line officials were advised today to cancel preparations to sail the former Hamburg-American liner Imperator, under the Cunard flag early next month. The company had extensively advertised the sailing of the liner which was recently awarded to it by the inter-allied shipping commission.

CALLS STRIKE A CRIME AGAINST MEN WHO TOIL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Scores of telegrams and letters have been received by Chairman Kenyon and other members of the senate committee investigating the steel strike. Some of the communications are intended to refute statements made before the committee by John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' committee, while others most of them anonymous, breathe defiance to organized government.

Among the telegrams received by Senator Kenyon was one from A. K. Perkins, representing the employees of the Inland Steel Co., Indiana Harbor, Ind., which said 90 per cent of the employees of the Inland Co. were opposed to the strike and that the walk-out was "a crime against the men who toil."

A telegram signed by John J. Friel, member of the American Federation of Labor, said 10,000 workmen at a meeting in Philadelphia, had adopted unanimously a resolution asking the senate committee to call as a witness John Clinton Parker, who would "give facts which make clear the kind of politics that is responsible for the United States Steel strike and the unfair profiteering and favoritism that creates dissatisfaction among the rank and file of working people and increases their cost of living."

FIRE DESTROYS ROOF IN SMITH STREET

An alarm from box 37 at 11:13 o'clock this forenoon was for a lively blaze in the attic of the block numbered 36 Smith street. When the flames had worked their way through the roof and before the fire was put out most of the roof was gone. The origin of the fire is not known but it is believed it was through spontaneous combustion, for the attic was being used as a storing place for the occupants of the six tenements of the block.

Shortly after the alarm was sounded William Dean, employed at Conway's stable in Smith street, rushed into the building and succeeded in carrying out an invalid woman by the name of Mrs. Jones, who it was feared would be affected by the smoke. The woman has been in a paralytic stage for some time and was unable to walk. She was carried into the home of a neighboring family. The building is owned by Thomas McGarr.

At 12:30 o'clock there was a telephone alarm for a brush fire on the First street dump. No damage.

BIG ARMY-NAVY BALLOON RACE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—The first of the five balloons which started last night in the army-navy balloon race, came to earth in St. Louis county at 10:30 o'clock, four and one half hours after the start. It was the army craft from Fort Omaha, Neb., piloted by Lieut. Col. J. W. S. West and Lieut. William E. Huffman. A leak in the gas bag caused the descent. The first navy balloon to land was that piloted by Ensign J. H. Stevens, the Pensacola naval station entry. It came down four miles north of Menominee, Mich., after being in the air 13 hours and 25 minutes. Menominee is 154 miles from St. Louis on an airline.

General Strike in Plants of Bethlehem Steel Company Ordered for Monday

40,000 MORE TO JOIN IN STRIKE

National Committee for Organizing Iron and Steel Workers Acts

Rival Leaders Again Issue Claims of Gains in Workers and Strikers

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 27.—The national committee for organizing iron and steel workers at a meeting here today ordered a general strike in the plants of the Bethlehem Steel Co., to become effective next Monday morning at 6 o'clock. The Bethlehem plants employ 40,000 workers.

William Z. Foster, secretary of the committee, in announcing the strike, said that between 40,000 and 50,000 men were expected to be affected. He asserted the Bethlehem plants were among the best organized in the country.

The committee with John Fitzpatrick, chairman, present, met to consider the reply of E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, to the union's demands for a conference. Mr. Grace in his reply said that he would not grant a conference to the union and that he would not abandon the present system of collective bargaining with employees, which was adopted by the company during the war.

41,000 Men Idle

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Since employees of the plate department of the Lorain Hill Steel Co., voted against going back to work and those of the open hearth and rolling mills departments of the Ohio works of the Carnegie Steel Co., not but failed to vote, Youngstown wondered today what would be the next move in the attempt to settle the steel strike and reopen the mills to the 41,000 men who are idle in this district.

Union men say yesterday's efforts to obtain an expression from the men on the question of returning to work were made by the companies and showed the strength of the strike. The companies contend they had no connection with the meetings.

Negotiations under way between the union and the Trumbull Steel Co., of Warren are expected by union officials to terminate soon in a satisfactory agreement.

A mass meeting of local railroad brotherhood members has been called for tomorrow afternoon. The purpose has not been revealed.

Both Sides Black Time

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—Both sides in the steel strike today virtually marked time for Monday. Steel company officials said they did not expect any considerable number of men to return to the mills today, but did not look for a general influx with the beginning of the week.

Strikers planned mass meetings for tomorrow afternoon.

NO REPORT ON STRIKE

Committee Which Sought to Avert Police Strike Not to Announce Finding Yet

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—The report of Mayor Peters' citizens' committee, which sought to avert the police strike, will not be made public for the present, it was announced today. Chairman James J. Storrow declined to say whether the joint statement of James H. Vahey and John P. Feeney, counsel for the policemen's union, which set forth the strikers' case and demanded that a report of the committee be published, had influenced the committee's decision.

The fund being raised throughout the state for the state guard troops and the policemen who remained on duty has passed the $200,000 mark.

REPORT CIVIL WAR IMMINENT

Alarmist Reports in Rome—Socialists May Clash With Nationalists and Militarists

Navy Reported Even More Dissatisfied Than Army—Cabinet Urged to Quit

ROME, Thursday, Sept. 25.—Alarmist reports are current in this city, one being that a civil war is imminent. On one side would be ranged the nationalist and militarist factions, which would be opposed by the socialists. Several generals are credited with the intention of heading the nationalist faction with a view to controlling the government it being said that they believe the weakness of those in power since the armistice caused the present deadlock. Some of these generals have already been mentioned as being in league with Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio before the Fiume raid with the object of overthrowing by force the Nitti cabinet and replacing it with a military dictatorship.

The navy is represented as being even more dissatisfied than the army having, according to naval officers' statements, suffered more from "the lack of consideration of their Anglo-French colleagues, who have acted as if they were masters of the Adriatic and have favored Jugo-Slav claims."

Foreign Minister Tittoni is said to have expressed the belief that the first thing to be done in the present serious situation is for the cabinet to resign, thus eliminating one reason for discord—opposition to men now in power. It is said his intention was the formation of a national cabinet including all the leaders of the chief political parties, which would give the government the greatest possible power under the circumstances. Premier Nitti, instead, considered that the resignation of the cabinet would be an admission either of culpability or weakness, which would make the situation worse.

ANOTHER REAL ESTATE DEAL ON THE WAY

Another big real estate deal is on the way and that is the transfer of the property at the corner of Merrimack and Hanover streets, owned by the J. L. Chaffoux heirs, which it is understood will soon be turned over to Dr. W. H. Pepin, a local dentist, who has occupied the second story of the building for a great many years. It was learned this morning that although the final papers for the transfer of the property have not yet been signed, it is a matter of but a few days before the deal is put through.

The property consists of a four-story brick building at the corner of Merrimack and Hanover streets and a two-story wooden building in Hanover St. The Merrimack street property has a store on the street floor, which has been occupied for years by J. C. Mansson, while the second story is occupied by Dr. Pepin, the other two floors consisting of apartments. In the Hanover street house are four small tenements. It is understood that Dr. Pepin is not contemplating any changes for the present at least.

The Merrimack street building is assessed for $15,000 and the land for $2500. The assessment on the Hanover street building is $1000 and on the land $1500, making a total assessment for the entire property of $23,500.

Great Britain in Grip of Big Railroad Strike---Nation Is Under War Regime

PRIMARY ECHOES AND RECOUNTS

Corbett-Donohoe Contest Reminder of Old Ward 5 Fights—Wagers Undecided

Other Features of the Polling and the Question of the New Charter

The 1919 primaries have come and gone and from now on until Nov. 4 the attentions of the politically elect will be centered on the fights for election. Lowell was one of the principal storm centers of the state during the latter part of the primary campaign and this combined with the well developed heat which came into being in many of the local contests resulted in a great show of interest when the polls were opened. The largest primary vote cast here in many years was recorded last Tuesday.

That the return of hundreds of service men to the city and to their right of suffrage was one of the big reasons for the heavy vote cast is not to be doubted. Although the various service organizations which have been born here since the return of the soldiers and sailors have veered widely from political paths, nevertheless, the members have had informal discussions among themselves as will the members of any organization and the "soldier vote," much discussed and long anticipated, became a reality in several of the contests Tuesday. It will become even more vital and potent in the contests that are yet to be decided both in state and local matters.

Many Surprises

Interest in various contests was very much alive during the day and it didn't die down even when the votes were counted. Proof of this is found in the petitions for recounts in several of the contests, notably the Corbett-Donohoe affair in the 16th representative district and the Eames-Pearson contest in the seventh senatorial. It is doubtful if the recounts will have any weight in changing

TEXTILE SCHOOL FACES HOUSING PROBLEM

The housing problem, which is more vexing in Lowell at the present time than ever before, is causing the Lowell Textile school considerable worry. When school opens on Monday Principal Eames expects an enrollment of nearly 250 young men and so far a great many of the students have been unable to secure rooming and boarding accommodations.

Practically every available place in Pawtucketville has been taken up and also many students have secured rooms in the Highlands and Centralville, but still a scarcity exists and it has created quite a problem for the faculty to meet. Persons who are willing to give up a room may telephone their names and addresses to the school.

Strike Called "War on Society"—Attempt to Force Country to Submit

Mails Carried by Airplanes—May Resort to Bicycles and Roller Skates

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Stoppage of traffic on the railroads through the strike today was virtually complete, except in Ireland, where the lines are not affected. No disturbances were reported.

LONDON, Sept. 31.—So far as could be learned at 10 o'clock this morning the members of the National Union of Railwaymen had walked out in a body, and the stoppage of service was complete. Telephonic and telegraphic reports to the executive committee of the union from distant centres showed that local branches were supporting the committee's action.

Railroad depots here were open this morning but, with the exception of a few people who were not aware of the strike, they were deserted. Even officials of the Southeastern Railway admitted their service had ceased, while subway trains had come to a complete standstill shortly after 10 o'clock. In the big freight yards, motor cars driven by soldiers were carrying off perishable articles which arrived on late trains from outlying sections.

Use Bicycles and Roller Skates

The London subways were tied up. Thousands could not be accommodated by the inadequate bus and tram services and were obliged to walk to work. Many resorted to bicycles and roller skates.

The government is said to be prepared to operate the railroads with armed forces, if necessary. It has issued orders placing all England under a war regime, so far as food and fuel is concerned, and it was stated yesterday the mails would be carried by airplane. So far the employees of the Irish railroads have not struck.

More Plants Running

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—More mills were running today at the United States Steel Corporation plant at Gary, Ind., with officials claiming 2200 men at work. Approximately 4000 men were on the job at the Illinois Steel company, and some sheets were actually rolled yesterday.

One man was beaten at the Illinois

Steel plant yesterday, and at Gary shots were fired when guards dispersed a crowd of strike sympathizers who had stoned their automobile.

From Gary came a report that several cases of rifles had been taken into the United States Steel corporation's plant. Four to five hundred guards were said to be on duty.

A temporary injunction has been issued against picketing at the Bellack plant in South Chicago. The company represented that a federal contract for railroad axes was being held up and that 50 per cent. of the employees desired to return to work.

At Waukegan stoning of automobiles and threats of other violence subsided after 300 deputy sheriffs, including business and professional men were sworn in.

Similar action by Gary citizens was planned. Six hundred men met and formed a citizens' military police organization of 300 men.

Plan to Reopen Mills

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—From virtually every part of the Pittsburgh district came reports today of preparations by steel companies to resume operations on Monday on a larger scale than any day of the first week of the steel workers' strike.

Strike leaders have been making arrangements to check a movement into the mills and to further cripple or entirely shut down plants that are still in operation.

Carnegie Steel company officials said today they were going along smoothly with increased forces in the plants the company is operating.

W. B. Rubin, of New York, general counsel for the strikers, arrived here today to take up the union's fight for free speech and free assemblage.

Soon after he arrived at union headquarters word was received from Monroeville, Pa., that the sheriff of Westmoreland county had ordered the closing of the organizers' office at that place. The strikers' committee was ordered to report the office and told to tell the sheriff that it would remain open as long as the "steel trust" keeps its offices open, Rubin said.

Vote to Return to Work

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Employees of the Ohio works who held a meeting last night voted by 52 to 29 to return to work, "when the proper time presents itself," according to a statement given out after the meeting. A committee was appointed, the statement said, to induce railroad men in the mill yards to join the movement to return.

More Strikers Return

GARY, Ind., Sept. 27.—Observers reported that more strikers returned to work today at the Indiana Steel Co. plant of the United States Steel corporation than at any time since the beginning of the strike. The number who went back today was estimated at 200 to 300. The company, it is said, now has between 3000 and 4000 men at work.

Labor leaders denied that the company was operating any of its departments and said the number of men returning was small.

DUFFY BEATS SYLVIA

Feature Bout of All-Star Show

By South Ends—Thomas and Leonard in Good Draw

After a long lay-off boxing was resumed here last night with an all-star carnival staged by the South End boys, the proceeds to go to the fund for the welcome home reception to be tendered the service men of that section next month. A large crowd turned out and a goodly sum was realized. There were five bouts on the program, and two of the numbers were about as classy as one would care to see. The final bout between Billy Duffy of Everett and Battling Sylvia of Cambridge went the distance, eight rounds, with Duffy getting the decision. It was a rip, roaring battle. Both are willing fighters, and possess terrific hitting ability. Duffy, though a little lighter in weight than Sylvia, carried the fight to his opponent all the way. Sylvia, however, seldom retreated. He sent back many times, but never with any real effect. The final round, as spirited as the first, and while Duffy clearly earned the decision, Sylvia gained many friends by his game battle. It was the feature of the evening. The other classy number found Kid Thomas of Lawrence and Leonard of Boston as the principals. They went at it hammer and tongs, and provided a very satisfactory fight. The bout was staged under the direction of Frank Roane and John Devlin, and everything went off like clockwork.

It was announced that on next Thursday night the new management of the Crescent club will present its first card of the winter season and the mechanism is busy arranging a very attractive program. It is planned to conduct weekly meetings on Thursday night during the season. Matty Carney of Lowell has been secured as referee.

TY COBB AGAIN CHAMP

Leading Batter for 12th Time

in 13 Years—Cravath

Tops National League

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The closing days of the baseball season finds Ty Cobb in possession of the American league batting championship for the 12th time in 13 years, according to unofficial averages today. He is leading the race with a mark of .379, 29 points ahead of Veech, his teammate.

The only year in which Cobb was deposed from the batting championship during his major league career was in 1915, when Speaker forced him out of the coveted position. Figures include games of Wednesday. Babe Ruth, the home run marvel, is in seventh place in the list of .323. He has driven out 25 homers for a world's record and leads the league in extra base hitting, having reached 138 safe hits for a total of 230 bases. He also leads in scoring, having counted 102 runs.

Eddie Collins is topping the base stealers with 22. Jack George, Sisler next in the list with 28. Cobb and Rice of Washington are trailing in third place with 2 each.

Other league American league batters for 60 games: Jackson, Chicago, .348; Sisler, St. Louis, .341; Tobin, St. Louis, .326; Helman, Detroit, .323; Leonard, Boston, .323; Flagstead, Detroit, .320; Rice, Washington, .319; Collins, Chicago, .317; Peckinpaugh, New York, .316.

Gavvy Cravath, manager of the Philadelphia club, is leading the race for the National League batting title, although the race is close. The averages show him in the lead with .336, with Jim Thorpe five points behind him.

Burns of New York, who crowded Heinie Groh, the Cincinnati third baseman, out of the commanding position in scoring, managed to cling to his lead of one run. Burns has registered 79 scores. Zack Wheat, the Brooklyn veteran, and Roush are fighting it out for honors in total base hitting. Roush has a total of 214, while Wheat's mark is 213.

Cuthaw of Pittsburgh is in no danger of being deposed as the leading vase stealer, his record of 35 being high. Bigbee, a teammate, is next in line with 23. Cravath's home run record of 11 remains unchallenged.

Leading National League batters for 60 or more games: Roush, Cincinnati, .325; Carey, Pittsburgh, .323; Groh, Cincinnati, .317; Meusel, Philadelphia, .316; Hornsby, St. Louis, .310; Barber, Chicago, .309; Stock, St. Louis, .309; Myers, Brooklyn, .303; Holke, Boston, .297; Wheat, Brooklyn, .295.

The Call-'em

It seems hardly a month ago that the 16 major league teams started out on their 1919 campaign for honors, yet today marks the closing of that season. It has been a season of surprises, records and huge attendances. The American league ran true to form and hope much more evenly than did the older organization, but who among us in April would have said that the Red Sox, world champions of 1918, would finish outside the first division this year? The work of Roush, Cuthaw, stands as the monumental feature of the race in the junior league. Twenty-eight terrific home runs have bounced from his bat, breaking all existing records for long distance hitting and placing him upon a pedestal far above the rank and file. His record may well stand for all time. Fans generally believe that the White Sox would win after the season had progressed hardly a month. The team had no weakness and in addition, possessed a pitching staff of superior worth, topped by Clete and Lefty Williams.

The Outlanders
Tris Speaker's and Lee Fohl's Cleveland Indians, however, have waged a rugged battle, never allowing themselves to finish in the position of runner-up, has worried Gleason at every turn. Detroit's fierce attack did not reduce the co-leaders' necessary from its pitching staff to make it first place finisher, although the hurling has been better this year than for any season since 1911. Veech and Flagstead stand as the unapproachable duoing trio of the campaign. The Yankees played brilliantly at times and slumped disastrously at others. Mays was a big winner for the Yankees in the final batting of Roger Peckinpaugh kept them up when signs of decay crept in. As in other years, the team lacked a little additional strength and class which separates first and third place finishers.

Great was the Fall
At the top of the second division stand the Red Sox. Only brilliant wins along toward the close of the year allowed them to pass St. Louis. The Boston pitchers have not performed any better than second division hurlers and therein lies the answer. Ruth, Hooper, McInnis, Schaug and Scott played wonderful ball. Vitt fielded well, but his poorly centre-field was uncertain and second base was too strong. New pitchers are needed by Barrow.

The Big Bomb-Shell
But we must turn to the National league for our big explosions. Headed by Pat Moran of Pittsburgh, the Cincinnati Reds broke many hearts in Gotham. The superlative Giants were wicket to wit with Chicago and Brooklyn favored to provide most of the argument, but along came Ruether, Eiler, King and the rest and emulating the Braves of 1917, hurled opposition aside and hammered their way to the top. The game of Cincinnati was the sensation of the year, for they have triumphed in the face of tremendous odds. On paper the team looked ridiculously weak beside New York, yet it never faltered, never dropped into a slump, never ceased fighting and most of all, apparently never worried over the future. "Today's game" was Moran's method and it was crowned with success.

NEW ENGLAND FAIR

We doubt if any other section of the country compares with New England during the month of September. It is the month of fairs and horse racing. In places such as Unity, Cherryville and Hartland, Me., Greenfield, Mass., Barre, Vt., Keene, N. H., St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Union and Farmington, Me., the farmer drives in behind his tractor and with only minor repairs as an incentive practically drives the tractor to the fair. They are an institution which should never be allowed to die.

Football Makes Bow on Pre-war Basis
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—With the baseball season on the wane, intercollegiate football made its initial bow to the sporting public today on a pre-war basis on nearly 30 gridirons throughout the country. This season marks the fifth anniversary of the game in America.

Harvard, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Brown and Army were among the better known eleven in the east starting today, while Yale, Cornell and Ohio State of the eastern colleges will open their season next week.

From all the training camps has come word that interest in the autumnal sport is greater than ever before. The squads of players are larger than in pre-war days and apparently the material is fully up to the standard.

At many colleges, particularly at Yale, Harvard, Cornell and Princeton, new coaching staffs are in charge.

Among the more important games on today's schedule were:

Pennsylvania vs. Bucknell at Philadelphia; Dartmouth vs. Springfield at Hanover; Army vs. Middlebury at West Point; Brown vs. Rhode Island State at Providence.

HERE TOMORROW
Baseball fans will welcome the news of a game to be played tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon on the South common between the Bellevues and a service team from Camp Devens. The proceeds of the contest will roll into the coffers of the general committee in charge of the coming South End celebration and a huge crowd is expected. The brand of ball on tap will be of the best for the Bellevues are known to be a fast working bunch and the team from Devens has beaten everything in sight at the Cantonment.

The temporary bridge will probably be open to travel by Wednesday of next week, the Boston & Maine officials have informed the mayor.

THE LOWELL SUN

SUGAR! SUGAR! SUGAR! not been reported to the house, it
The people of Lowell are losing is pointed to as proof of repub-patience over the shortage of sugar. It is interesting to note that with very good reason. Some of the large stores have sugar for their customers but few of the smaller in which the poor leave most of their money have any sugar. They say they cannot find it. Yet we learn that in neighboring cities the people have no difficulty—or at least some of them have no difficulty—in securing all the sugar they want. But they must "know the ropes" so to speak.

It is safe to say that thousands of families in New England cities, families having children in arms, are unable to get sugar for their most vital needs.

The foreign element who are unacquainted with the wire pulling by which sugar is secured in most places, have nobody to speak for them and although they may have little ones dying for lack of sugar, they must go without it while most of the families which have no youngsters have all they need.

The situation in Lowell is becoming quite tense and something must be done to meet it, either by Mayor Thompson or the municipal council as a body.

If any enterprising store announces sugar for sale, the rush will be so great that the supply will be all sold out in a few hours. The time has arrived when the government at Washington should adopt some plan of rationing the sugar supply. We cannot understand how some dealers get sugar while others get none.

It may be that profiteers are holding sugar for the highest bidders. If so, then that is a matter for the government to attend to. There is need of such a man as Hoover on the job of distributing sugar. Hoover is here. He is willing to take charge of this business. Why not give him the chance and thus relieve the sugar famine due either to the work of speculators or else to the lack of proper distribution. There is little doubt that far too much of our sugar supply is being shipped abroad because the dealers and speculators can thus make more of their holdings than they can in any other way.

If Mr. Hoover were on the job, he would see that the sugar supply of the country would be fairly distributed and that the poor would get their share of what is available. It seems that the sugar famine has reached a point in Lowell at which Mayor Thompson should step in to assist the people of this city in getting at least what will meet their urgent needs.

This is the canning season and with an abundant fruit crop, there is no sugar with which to preserve the surplus supply. The scarcity at present in Lowell is worse than that that prevailed during the war. What's to be done about it? Will the little children of the city be allowed to die for want of sugar or will the authorities, local or federal, do anything to relieve the situation? Unless something be done, there will be a great increase in infant mortality already abnormally high. How long must the poor suffer from this state of affairs?

WHERE CONGRESS LAGS

Despite the agitation in behalf of soldiers and sailors for some practical methods of offering them an opportunity to settle on farms, the republican majority in the house of representatives has thus far shown no desire to do anything definite in this direction. The democratic opposition charges an entire lack of constructive ability against republican leaders not only on this matter, but on many others even of greater importance.

Having failed to reach any agreement on the Mondel-Sumner-Lane soldiers' land bill the republicans are now trying to pass the back by awaiting the convention of the American Legion to be held at Minneapolis, in November, in order to get some ideas from the soldiers themselves, but the soldiers naturally decline to record this as a due appreciation of their services.

After brooding so many democratic measures in favor of the soldiers, the republicans had to bring forward a "stop-gap" of some kind and Rep. King Swopes, a newly elected member and served man from Kentucky, has been selected to carry the ball. He introduced a bill providing for six months' pay for every soldier and sailor and although the measure has

There has been some talk of a disposition on the part of some employers to discharge members of the State Guard, detained in Boston. It is true that the stay of the guardsmen in Boston is much longer than was anticipated, but in spite of that fact, it would be regarded as unpatriotic to fill the places of any of these men and tell them when they return that they are not wanted. We are confident that no employer of members of the State Guard will place himself in any such unenviable position. On the contrary most employers have decided to pay the guards while in Boston.

There are some members of the State Guard, however, held in Boston, who might render much better service to the state by attending to business at home. We refer to such men as Supt. Molloy of the Lowell public schools and Principal Fisher of the Vocational school. Surely there is a sufficient number of men ready to do police duty in Boston without calling away public officials whose absence may interfere with the progress of education in other cities. Supt. Molloy has on hand the duty of revising the course of studies in the local schools under the plan providing for junior high schools. To do that work effectively would require several months of careful study and research, and if the state can fill Mr. Molloy's place acceptably, he should be allowed to resume his duties as head of the local school department.

LET THE TRUTH APPEAR

Lawyers Vahey and Peeney, counsel for the police of Boston, demanded that the whole truth be told about the Boston police strike. If there is any attempt to suppress the policeman's side of the case, it should be promptly abandoned. There is no reason why the rights of the officers should be overruled or the facts in their side of the case suppressed. The people of Massachusetts want to be fair to all classes so far as we are aware, and to stifle the voice of any body of citizens, is not in accordance with the American idea of popular rights.

Particularly is this so in case of men charged with an offense bordering on treason. There should be no objection to complying with the demand of Lawyer Vahey that the whole truth be told about the police strike in Boston. Most people supposed the truth had been told. If anything is held back, it should be brought out.

TEACHERS' DEMANDS

Thus far it appears that no step has been taken to secure for the teachers of our public schools the increase in salaries to which they are entitled. We are now practically within a few months of the end of the year and within that time the school board and municipal council should devise ways and means of meeting the just demands of the teachers of Lowell. If this increase which must come eventually is delayed too long, it should be retroactive when it comes. In no case should it date later than the first of January next year. That is putting it off from six months to a year longer than the circumstances of the case would justify.

The milk we drink is being sold by the farmer, the original producer, at a direct loss of more than four cents per quart, says an expert of the New England Milk Producers' association. He comes down to cold figures and says that a quart of milk a farmer sells for eight cents, costs him 12.37 to produce. He goes on to state the amount of money necessary to be spent in a year to feed one cow, pay for labor, most depreciation, etc. Can it be possible that this is a forerunner of another advance in price to the household consumer?

The army store opened in Boston proved so popular that the doors had to be closed against thousands who clamored for admission. That was rather hard on people who went there from a distance, arriving in the afternoon to find that contrary to the published arrangement, the store had been closed. Even army officials sometimes fail to carry out their promises.

A lack of signatures will obviate the necessity to vote on at least one referendum previously planned to appear on the ballot at the coming state election. We refer to the woman suffrage question, which was to have been placed before the voters of Massachusetts in referendum form to allow them to pass upon its ratification.

SEEN AND HEARD

If the Bolsheviks don't get us the profiteers will.

Now it's the undertakers who have gone on strike in a western city—on the dead, isn't that the limit?

Some local boys are still sticking to the old straw bed. Well, these birds don't know the war's over.

Advertisement in a Pennsylvania newspaper: "We stand behind every bed we sell." No wonder the firm went bankrupt.

The President's Story

President Wilson is most often introduced as a "great man," "leader of world's democracy," "the apostle of democracy" and like epithets.

He frequently makes a humorous comment on these introductions, as, for instance, at Denver, when he said with a characteristic smile: "I knew perfectly well that it would be embarrassing after that introduction to stand up here and let you look at the 'great man.' If I may tell a very trifling story, my feeling is that of a very unsophisticated old country woman who went into a side show at a circus and saw, or thought that she saw, a man read a newspaper through a two-inch board. She said, 'Here, let me get out, this is no place for me to be with these thin things on.'"

Haven't You Often Wondered?

1. Why a rubber plant makes such a hit with the woman it took you four years to win?
2. Why you can't tie a four-in-hand so it looks like anything but a used bath towel?
3. Why it is that the collar button you hurt on Sunday is always the last one in the house?
4. Why it is that everybody seems to have his rent paid and money in the bank except yourself?
5. Why you will walk anywhere from four to nine miles around a billiard table when you're so tired that you'd holler like a lion if your wife asked you to go to the drugstore and get a stamp?
6. Why it is that you'll sit here and read this fool stuff when you've got Shakespeare, Goldsmith, Kipling and Arnold Bennett moiling on your book shelves?—Buffalo News.

Our Own United States

A public speaker recently pointed out that while the United States has only 6 percent of the population of the world and only 7 percent of the land, it produces:

- Sixty percent of the world's supply of copper.
- Forty percent of the world's supply of lead.
- Fifty percent of the world's supply of zinc.
- Sixty percent of the world's supply of aluminum.
- Sixty-five percent of the world's supply of oil.
- Sixty percent of the world's supply of cotton.
- Forty percent of the world's supply of silver.
- Fifty-two percent of the world's supply of iron.
- Forty percent of the world's supply of iron and steel.
- Twenty percent of the world's supply of gold.
- Eighty percent of the world's supply of automobiles.
- Twenty-five percent of the world's supply of wheat, and refines 90 percent of the copper and operates 40 percent of the world's railroads.

Mothers

When, in the cool of night,
She sits alone,
She rises, and without a light,
Steals, velvet-shod, to where his breathing makes
Soft music, as she stands
Feeling with untold hands,
And from his lips to his chin
She tucks him softly, gently in,
Breathing a blessing on his rest,
Deeming herself most blest.

When, in the cooling keep
Of my last bed,
If Mommy shall soothe me as I sleep,
And gently press the crown above my head,
Let me should lose the gain
Of sleep, and wake to fever and to pain.
O, I shall know the while,
And though I be too slumberous to smile,
Yet I shall snuggle closer, wrapped and pressed
In the great Mother's breast.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Trysting place for sweethearts for years innumerable, haven of rest for shoppers tired after hours spent at the city's bargain counters; known by all both young and old as a waiting place for tired feet—the old waiting room of the local street railway at Merrimack square spaces out of existence this evening, probably never to return.

That this old and well known landmark will be missed, and sadly missed, is indisputable. But in common with waiting rooms throughout all cities where the Eastern Massachusetts lines extend, it will be abolished for the sake of greater economy, and this evening is set as the time for its passing. What the space occupied by it for many years will be used for, as well as the offices above which have been occupied by the Lowell Fish and Game association, is not yet known.

A CRIPPLE FOR THREE YEARS

Helpless in Bed With Rheumatism Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit. Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets). Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place."

ALEXANDER MUNRO.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price, by FRUIT-A-TIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

occupied by the clerical force of the company, is known only to representatives of the Parker estate, owners of the Grosvenor building.

Although originally intended for the use of street car patrons waiting for their homeward bound cars to come snooping around the loop, the waiting room has been used for many other purposes, some of them probably undreamed of by its original sponsors.

How many married couples today can trace their present happy marital existence—we'll suppose they're happy, anyway—to that first meeting in the waiting room, is unknown, but they must number hundreds. And possibly—mind you, we said possibly—there are many divorces which might be traced back to that time when one member of the two who had signed up to love, honor and obey for ever and ever, left his or her native hearth to meet a "friend" in those classic shades under which they shouldn't have met at all.

Strangers to the city who planned to drop in and renew old acquaintances or visit relatives—they, too, met at the waiting room, as a natural thing. It was a great place of refuge in case of sudden storms, when one got caught without raincoat or umbrella—in fact, it was such an ingratiating refuge that if one didn't hurry he found himself too late to secure shelter.

And many of the male contingent will have to find a new smoking room in the downtown district. "Why?" you may say, "the room was plastered with posters and signs forbidding all and sundry to flirt with Missy Nicotine while waiting there." True enough, but there are many Lowell folks who never did believe in signs.

Many a weary, hungry and homeless puppy, who has sneaked his way into the dispatcher's office at the rear of the waiting room and been fed and warmed, will miss that friendly shelter. For the dispatcher's office, like all the "privies" of the establishment, will be there no longer after tonight.

The morning smile of those genial men known as starters will be missed from the waiting room, but here is this consoling fact that one will be able to locate them prowling about the Howe building corner, on the second floor of which, part of the company's force will take up new quarters.

Another thing to bear in mind is that the "missing articles" department, where is to be found an assortment of things left absent-mindedly on street cars including anything from false teeth to auto tires, will have been moved to the Howe building office—so if you've missed anything recently try your luck there. This doesn't include your wife, however.

Yes, the old waiting room will be sadly missed. But it was a fine old institution while it lasted, we'll tell the world.

The order which came a week or so ago to the Lowell state guard company to report at once for police duty in Boston was received by the city people much as a matter of course and the subsequent tour of watching has received but casual recognition. Of course, immediate families of the guardsmen appreciate the fact that they are away, but most of us have been prone to forget these volunteer militiamen almost entirely. For the most part their guard duty is fatiguing and confining and the men would welcome some slight remembrances on the part of their fellow citizens.

STEAM SHOVEL IS

BIG TIME SAVER

Work on the laying of the state highway on the land extending along the Merrimack river in First street has been started and a feature of the job is the use of the steam shovel for removing the slope and filling in the roadbed. The contract for the job has been given to an out-of-town firm, but the shovel that is being used is that owned by Patrick Cogger, the well known dealer of crushed stone, gravel, etc. This shovel was purchased by Mr. Cogger a few months ago and has been at work practically all the time. It is a money and time saver and all who have had occasion to use it or see it at work declare it is all to the good. Mr. Cogger also undertakes contracts for heavy teaming. His place of business is at 433 Riverside street.

CAPTURED MEN THIEF

A notorious chicken thief was caught last evening, and is now lodged at Lowell police headquarters. It is rather problematical whether he will be called upon to stand trial, though; in fact, he is more likely to end his days in the gas box route. For he's just a mongrel dog, who was "arrested" by Mrs. Daniel Lynch, 153 Moore street, wife of Patrolman Lynch, a member of the city's "finest." The charge against him is that he did feloniously, unlawfully and with malice aforethought steal, kill and eat eight of Mrs. Lynch's choice pullets in the past week.

INJURED COW KILLED

A valuable Jersey cow fell in the cattle car in which it was passing through Lowell late yesterday and was so badly injured that C. Fred Gilmore of the Humane society was forced to kill it.

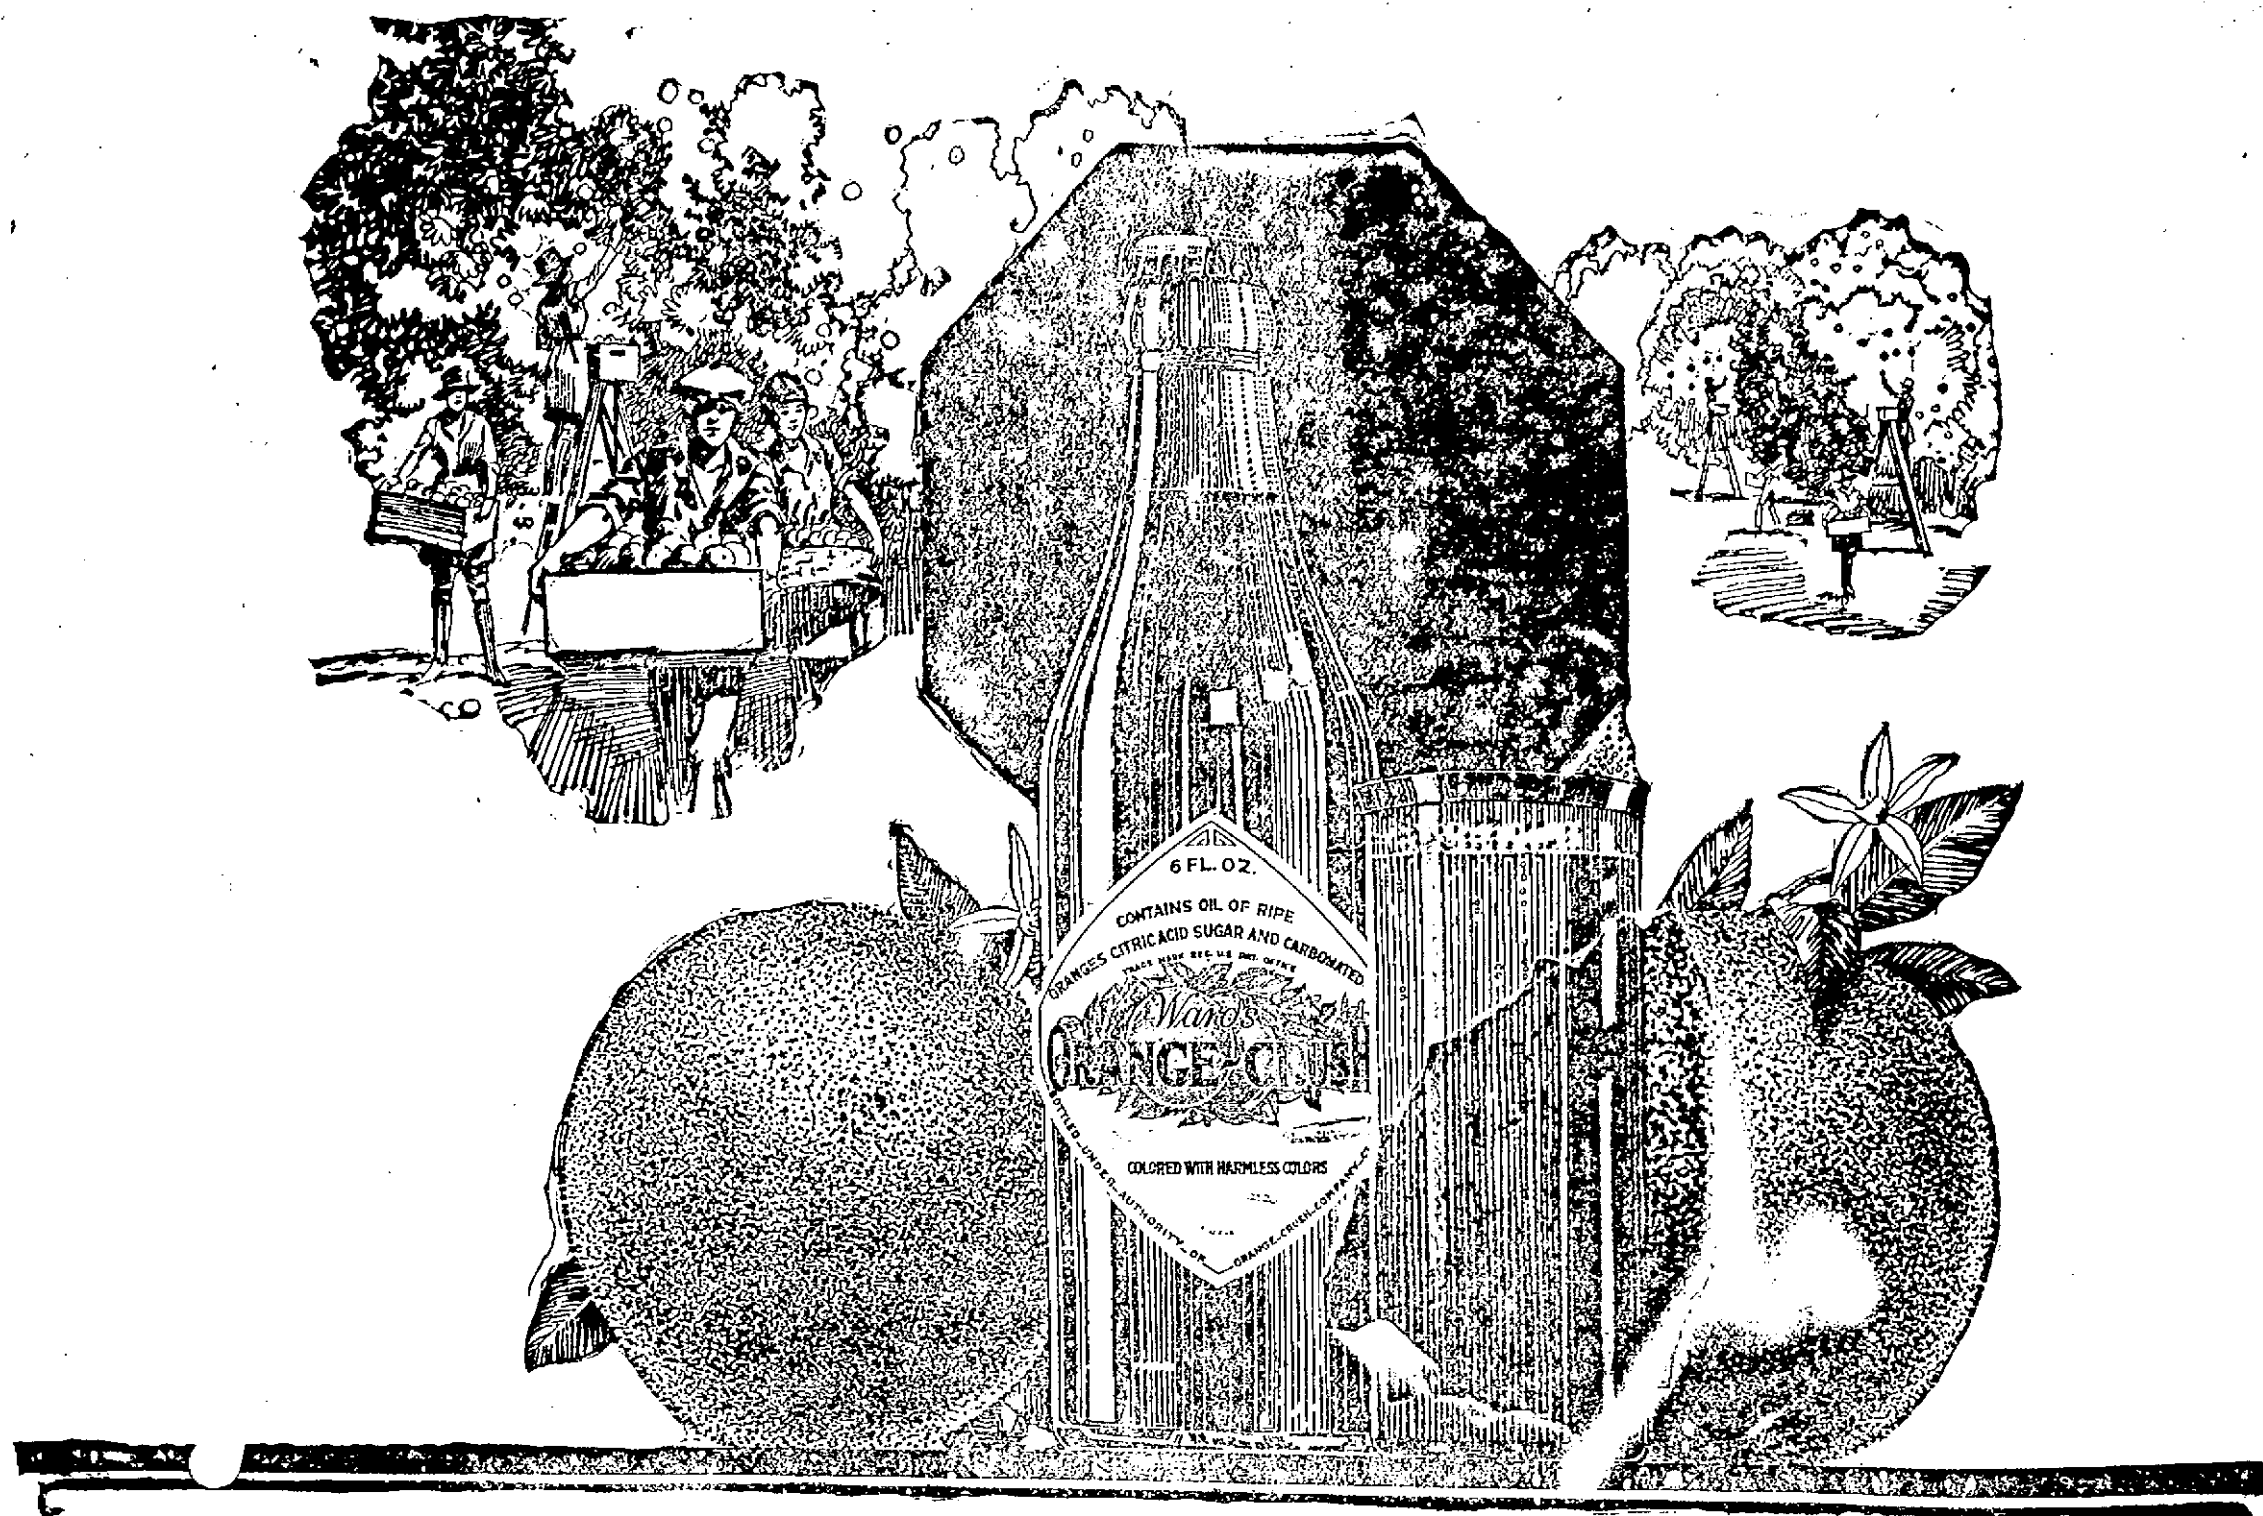

PREPARING FOR INFLUENZA

This dread disease seems to be creeping in again and the doctors and nurses and health authorities are busy making preparations to handle it. It is thought that if people would take the trouble to build themselves up and get in a good, rugged, physical condition, they would have a much better chance of escaping this dreadful disease.

If you are weak and tired out and rundown and unable to take the necessary rest in buying yourself into first-class condition, probably you had better take IRON-LAX-TONIC, which seems to be an especially effective combination for just such cases. There is the taxative which keeps the blood clean and free from waste material and then there is the invaluable iron in a form easy to be taken up for the benefit of the blood and general strength. There are a good many preparations containing iron in one form or another but only one IRON-LAX-TONIC tablet and many grateful people acknowledge its benefits. For example, Mrs. Fred Connel, who lives at 145 Vernon St., Wakefield, Mass., stated: "I was troubled with constipation, indigestion and poor appetite. I could not sleep well, which made me more or less nervous. I had no strength, no color, and now, after taking three bottles of IRON-LAX-TONIC, feel entirely different. I am telling all my friends about IRON-LAX-TONIC and what it has done for me."

Now is the time to take IRON-LAX-TONIC and get yourself in first class condition. If you get yourself strong and vigorous, you will have a much better chance of warding off dangerous diseases.

IRON-LAX-TONIC is sold in all first class Drug Stores everywhere.—Adv.

OFFICER ATTACKS LEAGUE

Gen. Glenn Says U. S. Should Keep Out of European Politics—Raps Japan

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Major General E. R. Glenn, commanding Camp Sherman and who was in France with the 89th Division yesterday, attacked the League of Nations in an address here before 500 officers and men. He declared that the United States should keep out of European politics and asserted that France was not in as bad condition as the French people would have us believe. He predicted that the next war would come sooner than generally expected. Japan, discriminated against American business during the war, he asserted.

The market basket makes old H. C. L. turn pale and run.
Cash and carry deliveries cut food prices by eliminating delivery costs. The woman with the basket usually knows how to select food and takes advantage of sales and bargains.

DEATHS

SWAN—Mrs. Emma (Booth) Swan died yesterday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Booth, 353 Walker street. Besides her mother, she leaves two brothers, William C. Booth of Somerville and Arthur B. G. Booth of this city.

THURSTON—Mrs. Dora Mowall Thurston, wife of Mr. George Plerce Thurston, of San Francisco, died in that city on Sept. 23, after a brief illness. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Franklin Nourse, of this city.

CARDODY—James Cardody, aged 65, died suddenly at his home, 5 Webster street, after a morning death being due to natural causes. He is survived by one son, Joseph. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker William A. Mack.

DUPREZ—William Duprez, age Anna, 33 years, died last night at his home, 113 Perkins street. She leaves her husband and four children, Laura, Beatrice, Arthur and Omer.

MARKET BASKET IS THE SWORN

ENEMY OF HIGH COST OF LIVING

BY BIDDY BYE

Learning the art of marketing is the intelligent housewife's first duty in her battle to aid her husband in beating the tidal wave of high prices.

First, a study of the market or markets in the locality, both the wholesale, the retail, and the rural markets, is an essential to wise buying. A careful study and experiments with the various retail grocery and meat markets, covering a month or two, and keeping careful records of comparative prices, of faults or advantages peculiar to each shop, will ultimately repay the shopper.

One store may specialize in fresh fruits and vegetables while another may be a much better market for bulk cereals and flour, and dairy and farm products. The line of canned goods supplied by one shop may be better than those carried by another—and cleanliness is always a prime consideration in any shop. Find out which store is most sanitary in handling goods.

Some shops give a discount on bills paid in full before the tenth of the month. Inquire if that is the custom in each shop, and try to arrange for that advantage if possible.

The so-called "cash-and-carry" groceries offer considerable economies to those who carry home their purchases in baskets or vehicles, and who pay cash for all purchases. The saving ranges from 5 to 10 per cent.

In stores not using the cash and carry system the wise housewife will arrange with the merchant for a 5 per cent. reduction on all bills of goods she carries home herself and agree to a charge of 6 per cent. of the bill for every delivery she requests.

The study of wholesale markets where staples can be bought in large amounts at considerable savings is well worth while. After prices of staples are ascertained a group of several housewives may arrange to buy sugar, coffee, beans, rice, oatmeal and canned goods in large quantities, dividing the goods and the cost among them according to a written agreement.

Wherever possible it is satisfactory to make arrangements for deliveries of eggs, butter and cheese with individual farmers, either by parcel post or by ordinary delivery. The prices are sometimes lower than in the stores and the condition of the goods is more dependable.

In the autumn these arrangements with individual farmers may be extended to include winter supplies of root vegetables, and even hams, lard and bacon. Such methods of buying are much cheaper than small quantity marketing.

In such "direct from the farm" marketing the purchaser should be informed of the prevailing wholesale prices paid for the goods and should not pay the retail price to the farmer. The retailer charges his own profit and the cost of his "overhead expenses" to the customer. The farmer escapes these expenses and so has no legitimate right to retail prices.

If no curb market, or public market exists in the town or neighborhood the good manager housewife will make every effort to have one established. The prices of fresh products are much lower where local growers and producers compete for trade on an open market.

One of the surest means of economy open to every housewife is the absolute abolition of the telephone order, and the substitution of the habit of personal marketing, as a regular habit. It is unnecessary to market more than twice or three times a week if the buying is well planned.

Personal inspection of all goods, good judgment of quality and material, an insistence on correct weights and measures, and thorough information as to one's own needs and the prevailing prices is as near an insurance against profiteering as the individual shopper can achieve.

To Lift Bars on Radio Stations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—War time restrictions governing the operation of radio stations and radio equipment by amateurs will be removed Oct. 1, it is announced at the navy department. The removal applies to technical and experimental stations at schools and colleges and to all other stations except those transmitting or receiving commercial traffic. The restrictions on commercial traffic stations will remain in effect until the president proclaims peace.

Attempt to Lynch Man Fails

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 27.—A mob of 1500 persons late last night attempted to take Will Brown, a negro, from police officers and lynch him. He had been arrested on a charge of attacking a young woman. Two-thirds of the police of the city were rushed to the scene and members of the mob beaten before the prisoner could be locked up.

FORT DE FRANCE, Friday, Sept. 26.—A strong earthquake shock was felt here at 12.20 o'clock this afternoon. No damage was reported.

COMMUNITY SERVICE NEWS OF THE DAY CLUB FOR GIRLS IN POLICE COURT

Alexander Milotte tried to beat the high cost of living last evening, but like many another man who has made the same attempt, lost the decision.

Alex dropped in at one of the Chinese restaurants and ordered some food—$1.15 worth, to be exact—but when the time came to settle Alex asked to be excused. He didn't have the money with him, he explained; in fact, he was completely broke and therefore there was "nothing doing" in the collecting line.

This morning in police court Alex pleaded guilty to drunkenness, and added that if given a chance he would try and dig up the $1.15 to square himself with the proprietor. So they continued his case until Monday for disposition, and incidentally held him in $200 bonds.

Found offenders

Found guilty of assault and battery on Frank F. Pello, Joseph A. Lemire was fined $20.

A fine of $5 was imposed in the case of Louis Harris, charged with unlawful use of registered milk bottles.

On Monday evening, next, the Community Service club for girls will launch its week of publicity in an effort to create wider interest in the organization among the young women of the city. Pamphlets, outlining the scope of club activities and its many advantages, are being freely distributed through mills, shops and stores and the club members have been divided into committees to assist in the work.

Open house will be held in the club rooms in the Runels building every evening next week and hostesses will be present to conduct visitors through the rooms and fully explain the club's ideas and ideals. Any girl in Lowell over 17 years of age is eligible to join at a monthly fee of 25 cents.

The publicity week will end next Friday evening with a carnival in the club rooms as the closing feature. Great preparations are under way for the event which promises to be one of the most pretentious attempted by the club. Its explanation in full detail will appear early next week.

Ambergris is worth more than twice its weight in gold.

Stanley Golden, charged with cruelty to a horse, was found guilty and his case continued until Oct. 4 for disposition.

Charged with assault and battery on Saul Schulman, Benjamin Cohen pleaded not guilty and had his case continued until Oct. 11.

THAT "STICKER" VOTE
Since the primaries last Tuesday there has been considerable discussion among those interested in the 15th representative district contest as to the number of "sticker" votes on the democratic ballot which George T. Little secured. Mr. Little, who is an overseas veteran, was an avowed republican candidate for nomination in this district and received more than 1000 votes from republicans. In addition he received six "sticker" votes on democratic ballots, but inasmuch as 20 is the number required, he failed to be nominated.

RECOUNTS MONDAY
The registrars of voters will hold recounts Monday morning at 10 o'clock at city hall on the votes cast in this city for Messrs. Corbett and Donohoe in the 16th district representative fight and Messrs. Eames and Pearson in the seventh senatorial district at the state primaries last Tuesday.

CENSUS SUPERVISOR
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Roy Brackett of Quincy, has been appointed census supervisor for the Eighth Massachusetts district.

FORMER GERMAN LINERS

Eight Ships Allocated to U. S. to Be Turned Over to Shipping Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The eight former German liners allocated to the United States after the armistice, including the former Hamburg-American steamship Imperator, the second largest ship afloat, are to be turned over to the shipping board by the war department, as soon as necessary surveys can be made.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Cunard Line officials were advised today to cancel preparations to sail the former liner Imperator-American liner Imperator, under the Cunard flag early next month. The company had extensively advertised the sailing of the liner which was recently awarded to it by the inter-allied shipping commission.

CALLS STRIKE A CRIME AGAINST MEN WHO TOIL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Scores of telegrams and letters have been received by Chairman Kenyon and other members of the senate committee investigating the steel strike. Some of the communications are intended to refute statements made before the committee by John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' committee, while others most of them anonymous, breathe denunciations of organized government.

Among the telegrams received by Senator Kenyon was one from A. K. Perkins, representing the employees of the Inland Steel Co., Indiana Harbor, Ind., which said 99 per cent of the employees of the Inland Co. were opposed to the strike and that the walk-out was "a crime against the men who toil."

A telegram signed by John J. Friel, member of the American Federation of Labor, said 10,000 workmen at a meeting in Philadelphia, had adopted unanimously a resolution asking the senate committee to call as a witness John Clinton Parker, who would "give facts which make clear the kind of politics that is responsible for the United States Steel strike and the unfair profiteering and favoritism that creates dissatisfaction among the rank and file of working people and increases their cost of living."

FIRE DESTROYS ROOF IN SMITH STREET

An alarm from box 37 at 11:13 o'clock this forenoon was for a lively blaze in the attic of the block numbered 38 Smith street. When the firemen arrived on the premises the flames had worked their way through the roof and before the fire was put out most of the roof was gone. The origin of the fire is not known but it is believed it was through spontaneous combustion, for the attic was being used as a storage place for the occupants of the six tenements of the block.

Shortly after the alarm was sounded William Dean, employed at Conway's stable in Smith street, rushed into the building and succeeded in carrying out an invalid woman by the name of Mrs. Jones, who it was feared would be affected by the smoke. The woman has been in a paralytic stage for some time and was unable to walk. She was carried into the home of a neighboring family. The building is owned by Thomas McGagh.

At 12:30 o'clock there was a telephone alarm for a brush fire on the first street dump. No damage.

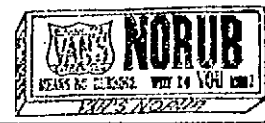

BIG ARMY-NAVY BALLOON RACE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—The first of the five balloons which started last night in the army-navy balloon race, came to earth in St. Louis county at 10:50 o'clock, four and one half hours after the start. It was the army craft from Fort Omaha, Neb., piloted by Lieut. Col. J. W. S. Wuest and Lieut. William E. Huffman. A leak in the gas bag caused the descent. The first navy balloon to land was that piloted by Ensign J. H. Stevens, the Pensacola naval station entry. It came down four miles north of Menominee, Mich., after being in the air 13 hours and 25 minutes. Menominee is 481 miles from St. Louis on an airline.

MANY SOLDIER BILLS IN CONGRESS SLUMBER IN PIGEONHOLES

Senator Walsh to Speak on League of Nations —Would Create Department of Merchant Marine—Cardinal Mercier's Reception

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—The purpose of congress is to provide for the returned soldiers in some form which will not only be satisfactory to the soldiers themselves, but will be a workable plan as well. A large number of plans have been suggested both as to insurance and employment and although many of them looked good on the surface, they did not pan out well when it came to a practical view point.

When the War Risk Insurance measure was before the house many plans were suggested to the Interstate Commerce committee, before which hearings were being held, but when the plans were submitted to insurance experts it was found that most of them were not adapted to meet the end desired. At last a bill was passed and is now waiting for separate action. It was necessary to keep out objectionable features so long time was consumed in its preparation and now the bill passed seems to meet with general favor. The purpose of the bill was to clear up many inconsistencies of the original bill, which had been hastily framed, to meet emergencies and run along the line of untried conditions. Naturally many injustices were found to exist and it has been the purpose of congress, in the new bill, to adjust such matters. One of the big improvements came about through the insistence of Mr. Rogers of Massachusetts, who urged that the total disability insurance should be increased from $30 as at present to $50 or $100 according to conditions.

Another matter to which Mr. Rogers called specific attention was that a man's earning power could not be entirely judged by his ability to perform certain tasks. For instance a man whose face had been partly shot away, or who was deaf and dumb could not hope to get a job as easily as a man who was not suffering from such misfortune, even though he might be just as capable of doing the work. Another important change is the extension of the so-called permitted class, whereby foster parents and others caring for soldiers in the place of parents are given opportunities to receive insurance benefits. Still another change for the better is the granting of insurance to men who were sick or injured after being inducted into the service, but before they had the opportunity to take their physical examinations, after mobilization.

In connection with the soldier relief bills which are already, or will soon come before congress are at least four distinct measures. They are the Mondell bill, which would provide land for soldiers; the bill to lead vocational training to all returned soldiers, instead of only to such as are in need of rehabilitation; one to provide insurance for the men for a period of two years, while they are getting on their feet to again become workers; and one to give each man a bonus. Of the latter, suggestions ranging from $100 to $1000 have been pressed before congress. It is roughly estimated that under the Mondell bill not more than $0,000 could possibly profit, and more-over that bill is regarded here as more of a reclamation measure than of a soldier benefit bill, as the available land would be in the far west and has never been cleared or cultivated.

The bonus bill does not seem to meet with very general approval of the boys themselves. Vocational training would be very useful to a tremendous number while insurance would benefit the family of the men more than the men themselves. Each project has bitter opponents and warm

Quarter Century Ago

The following from the old Sun is an account of a ball game between the local police and the clerks at city hall. It was written by the late "Jim" Hearn, and shows touches of his characteristic humor. Jim had no superior as an authority on baseball. The game described below was played in August 25 years ago:

"It did not take the 'cops' very long to find out they are no match for the city hall baseball team.

"Seven innings of good ball playing satisfied them that they made a big mistake when they tackled the clerical boys. Had it been a rough and tumble, free fight contest, why certainly the bluecoats would have been victorious, but with ball and bat in America's national game, they might just as well have run up against the champion Bostonians.

"Twenty-one to ten—that is the way they played—with the city hall nine at the big end of it.

"Pick' Bowers, who played right for the city hall's make the catch of the day. It was a 'Duffy' catch and 'Pick' turned two somersaults before he was sure of the ball. He was willing to turn three if they had all come his way. He clearly demonstrated that he is a better fielder than John P. Mahoney. Somebody suggested that 'Jim' Kerwin should have umpired the game, but Jim strenuously objected and quoted Blackstone and several other authorities on such matters to show wherein a man is justified in striking another—for there surely would have been a fight had 'Zim' given decisions. Dan Cogger tugged away at second base and the perspiration poured down his back while 'Squire' Owens did the dual role between third and short.

"The police were clearly outclassed. Had the city hall played with only three men there might have been some hope, but with nine, ye gods, they might just as well have provided one hundred.

"The crowd present included men from all walks of life and everyone on request.

Child Almost Dead
Grandmother Saves Life

Roxbury, Mass. A grandmother in Roxbury writes: "I put great faith in your medicine, and one of my children was dying. The doctor said she could not live until morning, and I ran out to the drug store and got a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir. I was so excited I gave her the half of the bottle at once, and at night I gave her the other half. I thought it was all over, and for the doctor says she is dying anyway, but she did not die. She went to sleep the first sleep for a week, and the next morning she passed two worms, red in color, and said: 'That was twenty-four years ago, and now she has a baby girl of her own, seven months old, who is as strong as Dr. True's Elixir.' (Name on request.)

Constipation, headaches, tired feeling, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, and many other signs of sickness, can be relieved, if you take the prescription known as Dr. True's Elixir. The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, ever since 1851—over 65 years reputation.

who had a grudge against the 'cops' joined in the 'yell' for city hall.

"Here are the players:

"Parker—Inglis, c; Maher, p and 1b; Swan, 1b and cf; Cogger, 2b; Mills, ss; Coleman, 3b; Cawley, lf; Leighton, cf and p; Boyle, rf.

"At the end of the seventh inning the game was called with the score 21 to 10 in favor of the city hall team.

Danbar—Rogers

I learn from the old Sun that Frank E. Danbar was joined in wedlock to his estimable wife just 25 years ago yesterday. The wedding was one of the leading society events of the season. From The Sun report of the event, I take the following:

"The brilliant wedding of the season thus far was that of last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rogers on Pawtucket street, when their elder daughter, Miss Mary C. Rogers, became the bride of Mr. Frank E. Danbar.

"It was a 7 o'clock wedding and at that hour, to the music by the American orchestra, the bridal party entered the drawing room through an aisle formed by white ribbons held by Master John Rogers. The bride leaned on the arm of her father and was preceded by her mother and Dr. Sydney H. Carney of New York. Then came the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Frederick Francis of Pittsfield; Miss Alice Rogers, the maid of honor, and her cousin, Dr. Sydney H. Carney, Jr., and Miss Hortense Carney of New York.

"Rev. C. A. Dickinson, D.D., of Berkeley Temple, Boston, stood in an alcove of palms and awaited the bridal pair. After the service Mr. and Mrs. Danbar held a reception. The bride was crowned in white satin trimmed with orange blossoms and wore a veil of tulle kept in place with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was crowned in pink chiffon and carried Mornet roses. Miss Carney wore pale blue silk and Mrs. Rogers, gray moire with corn colored chiffon.

"Following the reception, supper was served by the Page company in a marquee on the lawn. The wedding colors were pink and white and within the house the hall was banked with palms, maiden hair fern, roses and barberry branches.

"Mr. Danbar came to Lowell yesterday from his summer home at Marblehead Neck and returning in the early evening, observed the anniversary in a quiet way at his commodious residence. With Mrs. Danbar, he spends much of his leisure time at the seashore, yachting and fishing. As to his career as an anchor, there are conflicting reports, while his well known modesty prevents him laying claim to any great proficiency as a disciple of Wallton. In his profession, however, he has won eminent success and socially he is the prince of good fellows.

Not Democratic Convention

Politics quarter of a century ago reached fever heat in the conventions called by the democrats on one side and republicans on the other to nominate candidates for congress. According to the old Sun, the democratic convention developed an old time political fight when the name of Hon. George W. Fifeild was placed in nomination by one of the delegates. The man who rose with flaming eyes and raging spleen to assail Fifeild was one for whom the latter when mayor had refused to sign a liquor license. That fight was fully as hot as the Corbett-Donohoe primary contest in the 19th district, not excepting the lively scenes enacted in the store of the Reane Brothers.

Daniel J. Donohue, then an active participant in democratic conventions, defended Mr. Fifeild's good name and his political consistency with the result that he was nominated by a big majority. Hon. Moses T. Stevens, the Andover statesman, refused to run again, and Mr. Fifeild put up a fairly good campaign, but he was beaten by the republican nominee, Hon. William S. Knox of Lawrence, who was a glib talker, while Fifeild was a thorough business man, who seldom attempted to make a speech.

The Kallamagoozelum Band

From the old Sun:

"The Kallamagoozelum band of the Kirene lodge and Aunt Jerusha's spelling class went to Forge Village to assist Granite lodge, I.O.G.T., in its concert, given in the town hall. A delightful entertainment was given and refreshments enjoyed. The program included the following numbers: Piano solos, Emily Prinn, Allen Craven; vocal solos, Mabel Longbottom, Hannah Berry and Walter Longbottom; readings, Clifford Hall and Effie Blodgett; trick harmonica solo with piano accompaniment, diabolos, Lottie and Blanche York, Clara Kierstead and Emily Prinn; recitation, Elizabeth Bennett; accordion solo, Clara Rushworth; dialogue, five young ladies; reading of a will, Mrs. Ida A. Tilton; address, 'Temperance,' Rev. A. J. Hall; band selections and drill by Aunt Jerusha's class."

Mule Spinners' Officers

Says The Sun:

"The Mule Spinners' union has voted to assist the members 50 cents a week for the support of the New Bedford strikers. Officers were elected as follows: President, Michael Duggan; vice-presidents, Fred Joyal and John McShea; recording secretary, John Coppinger; financial secretary, Michael Logan; treasurer, George O'Brien; auditor, Edward McCann."

the result in either instance, although Mr. Pearson is said to lead Mr. Eames by only seven votes. However, the inaccuracy of the reports from the towns in the district makes the matter rather confusing. According to figures given out Wednesday forenoon Mr. Pearson was in the lead by 233. Then the lead was cut down, set up again and so on until finally it was decided that the Lowell man's lead

Strikers and Workers in Pitched Battle

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A pitched battle between strikers and loyal workers of the De Haven Manufacturing Co., in Brooklyn today, in which shots were fired and missiles hurled, resulted in the injury of three men and the arrest of three others after a riot call had been sent to the police. The trouble was the outcome of an attack by the strikers on 12 men had refused to quit work.

First Viscount of Thame Dead

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Francis Leveson Bertie, first viscount of Thame and British ambassador to France from 1905 to 1918, died yesterday.

was only seven votes. A recount is necessary to straighten the matter out to see just what margin separated the two men.

In the Corbett-Donohoe fight Mr. Corbett's lead of 120 is ample to protect him against the fatalities of a recount. It is understood that a number of wagers were made on the matter by which each candidate would defeat the other and it is to decide this matter that the recount has been asked.

The fight in this district was one of the warmest seen in a local representative contest in years. At the beginning, it looked as though Representative Corbett would win by an overwhelming vote but the Donohoe forces succeeded in building a fairly strong campaign organization. There's been many a hot fight staged in this district, which formerly embraced old Ward 8, but few of them have surpassed that which was decided last Tuesday. A nomination here means an election and next January Representative Corbett will undoubtedly begin his fourth term at the state house.

"Stickers" Win Out

Another unusual feature of this year's primaries was the success of two candidates who resorted to the "sticker" method of getting their names on the ballot. It was in the 15th district that the trick was pulled and William J. Madden and John F. Thomas were the successful candidates. Neither man had his name on the ballot but by having a sufficient number of voters stick their printed names in the blank spaces the young men succeeded in winning the democratic nomination in that district.

Each man had to get 50 votes to insure his name being placed on the ballot at the state election and Messrs. Madden and Thomas came out way ahead with 56 and 55 votes, respectively. They will now line up against Messrs. Achin, Jewett and Brand, the republican nominees. Voters in this district will have these five men from which to choose three representatives for the district for next year. The democrats will have to face an overwhelming majority but they will remain in the fight to the last.

On the surface, the "sticker" method seems rather queer and usually is not successful. The "sticker" candidates rarely have any campaign to wage until the 11th hour, need not expend money as do the other candidates and are not known to the general public as avowed candidates. However, the procedure is strictly legal and brings out one of the queer twists of election laws.

JOHN D. ROCKFELLER, JR., NAMED ON INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

America's Most Powerful Capitalist, Regrets Impression That Labor and Capital Are Both Striving to Get Upper Hand

BY JOHN D. ROCKFELLER, JR.,
America's Most Powerful Capitalist
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The popular impression that from the very nature of the case labor and capital are two great contending forces arrayed against each other, each striving to gain the upper hand through force, each feeling that it must arm itself in order to secure from the other its rights and its just dues, is even more unfortunate than it is untrue.

I cannot believe that labor and capital are necessarily enemies. I cannot believe that the success of one must depend upon the failure or lack of success of the other. Far from being enemies, these two factors must necessarily be partners.

Only when the industrial problem is approached from the point of view of a firm belief in this doctrine is there any hope of bringing about closer, more helpful and mutually advantageous relations between these two forces.

Various methods of representation in industry have been developed, conspicuous among which are labor unions and employers' associations. Labor unions have secured for labor many advantages in hours, wages and standards of working conditions. A large proportion of them are outside these organizations, workers of the country, however, and unless somehow represented are not in a position to bargain collectively.

Representation on the employers' side has been developed through the establishment of trade associations. But here also representation is inadequate. Many employers do not belong to employers' associations.

Developed in America

In England there have been made three important government investigations and reports looking toward a more complete program of representation and co-operation on the part of labor and capital. A method of representation similar to that suggested in one of them—the Whitley report—though less comprehensive, and which is constructed from the bottom up, has been in operation for varying periods of time in a number of industries in this country, including the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, the Consolidation Coal company and others. It begins with the election of representatives in a single plant, and is capable of indefinite development to meet the complex needs of any industry and of wide extension so as to include all industries. Equally applicable in industries where union or non-union labor or both are employed, it seeks to provide full and fair representation of labor, capital and management, taking cognizance of the community also.

While doubtless defects will appear in the plan, and other methods more successfully accomplishing the same end may be developed, at least it is proving in operation that in unity there is strength, and that a spirit of co-operation and brotherhood in industry is not only idealistically right, but that it also works.

I am profoundly convinced that nothing will go so far toward establishing brotherhood in industry and insuring industrial peace as the general and early adoption by industry of this principle of representation, the favorable consideration of which cannot be too strongly urged upon leaders in the early days of industry, the ers in industry.

JOHN D. ROCKFELLER, JR.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., America's most powerful capitalist. In association with his father, he is the controlling force in Standard Oil, Colorado Fuel & Iron and the Consolidation Coal company, as well as a large holder in numerous other industries. He is responsible for the "industrial representation plan," covering labor relations in those industries, adopted after the great Colorado coal mine strike four years ago. He has been appointed by President Wilson as a member of the forthcoming industrial conference at Washington.

Have Common Interests

The interests of labor and capital are common interests; neither can get on without the other.

LATEST STYLE EDICT OF PARIS: "NO CORSETS FOR FRENCH WOMEN"

UTILITY FROCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—With the coming of autumn days utility frocks are finding more favor than ever with New York women.

Most of those seen on Fifth ave are of that good old standby—dark blue serge. Women seem to find them a relief from the continuous wear of a tailored suit, and with furs they are quite warm enough for walking and shopping.

Especially is no debutante's wardrobe complete without at least one frock of this type. For besides serving many purposes they have a youthful air that is unequalled by any other garment suitable for general street wear.

The frock shown in the sketch is of dark blue serge trimmed with wool drop-stitch embroidery in taupe. It is made smart enough for morning or informal luncheon by the little chemise of tucked net. A taupe hat of soft felt relieved with a blue quill and taupe spats complete a most effective costume.

CHARMING GOWNS WORN AT THE PARIS RACES SHOWING CORSETLESS FIGURES AND OBLITERATED WAISTLINES—SHORTER AND FULLER SKIRTS ARE ALSO FAVORED

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)

PARIS, France (By Mail).—All French women have discarded their corsets. The waistless gown and the natural figure is the latest mode. Children, many children are about to be born in France.

In exact opposition to the narrow skirts and scant draperies exported to America and other countries by the fashion centre of the world, Paris designers are building for French women gowns that fall in soft, voluminous folds.

There is a hint of the ancient Greek tunic in the bloused bodices of the newest gowns. They fall over the high waistline almost obliterating it. The very short sleeves, and in some cases no sleeves, the tilted skirts of generous gathers about the waist, the puffs over the hips—all hint of the classic robes worn in the days of Spartan mothers.

And why this sudden change to a fashion so in variance with Paris modes of many years? The reason is as simple of understanding as it is great in its importance. Many children are about to be born in France.

The long war depleted the man power of France. The birth rate during those years was dangerously low. Church and state have recognized this situation as the most serious confronting the country. But this danger is to be alleviated. The married French women—they against whom the world has brought for years the charge of race suicide—are proudly seeking maternity.

As the French women gave their men for the defense of France in the great war, so now they are about to give her her next generation.

And so the gown built on loose maternity lines has become the style, not only for matrons happily looking forward to motherhood, it is being adopted by all French women.

The frocks shown in the illustration were photographed at the recent Paris races. Matron and maid alike are gowned in loose waistless models that are the emblem of France's great triumph.

The most important French designers have expended their artistic ingenuity on these frocks. Never were more beautiful materials combined in lovelier color combinations.

On the walls of the reception room of one of the exclusive gownmakers in Paris are a number of old prints.

Some are photographs of paintings, some even of sculptured figures, and each shows the style of gown worn by women at some period of the world's history.

The proprietor of this shop points out the full draperies of after-war periods, explains that it is a known historical fact that the birth rate increases after every war; that styles follow necessity; that, after all great wars, the designers have deliberately made frocks built on maternity lines the general style.

What effect the new Paris style will have on the rest of the world has been little speculated upon here. Some few of the less accentuated gowns have been exported. Those sent to America have been designed to be worn with corsets, though the lovely grace of the newest drapes and fuller skirts has been preserved.

It is not expected by the originators of these frocks that the world will follow Paris in this style. Nor do the men who have created the fashions of the world for years care. For they have supplied beauty, grace and distinction to the dress needs of the mothers of their own country. And they have done it so well that all women of France have accepted the unusual departure as a general mode.

Lady Lookabout

One would have to work very hard to convince me that the great numbers of children ranging from five and under to 14 and over who daily march like a pest on the suburbs, armed with whigs, small wagons, roomy blouses, and the like, do so at least with the knowledge of their parents. And when they return to their homes laden with apples, pears, grapes, and often with garden vegetables, I am afraid it would require an unusual lawyer to convince a jury that the parents of these children, mothers principally, are not parties to the thefts. Very few farmers are giving away their produce these days when production costs them so much, and the mothers must know it, for they know what they must pay for farm goods at the market, yet they continue to accept the things their children steal and bring home. By teaching their children that these things belong to whoever may gather them, not only are they doing a tremendous injustice to those children and to the farmers, but they are sowing the seeds of socialism and Bolshevism which another generation shall reap. One has to be the victim of these thefts in order to appreciate their magnitude.

The Original Suffragist

With suffragists the country over observing the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Lucy Stone, known as the first pioneer of woman suffrage in the United States, it is interesting to note, according to Mrs. Frank C. Scanton of Boston, in her brilliant address to the League of Catholic Women in Associate hall last Sunday, that the first woman of this country to seek the right to vote, was Margaret Brent, a colonist of Maryland and a relative of Lord Baltimore who founded the colony. Margaret Brent was a woman of wealth, and on the death of a male relative, having inherited additional wealth, petitioned the council of Maryland that she might also inherit her deceased relative's right to vote. At that time only property owners could vote. Her petition was refused. Two years later, however, after much agitation on the part of Margaret Brent, and after she had given largely of her wealth to the struggling little colony, the women of the colony of Maryland were, by act of the council, empowered to vote. Margaret Brent, therefore, is the real pioneer of suffrage for women in the United States. The Margaret Brent Suffrage association of Boston, named in recognition of her services to women, has done much in a quiet way to advance the cause of woman suffrage, and plans are on foot to form branches of the association throughout the state.

Auditorium Site Like Ruins in France

Returning from the city one moonlight night last week, two young men passed through East Merrimack street. One had recently returned from overseas duty and the memory of much he had been through still was fresh in his mind. Coming to the block of buildings now being demolished to make room for the new auditorium, he stopped, wrapped in reminiscence as he looked over the ruins. The pale light of the moon cast high lights on the standing walls and timbers of the scooped and scuttled buildings, while corners and recesses were in black shadow, a most suggestive picture. "That scene," spoke the young soldier, "might be of almost any war-ravaged village of France. Many, many times have I seen its counterpart over there and many, many times have I and my companions billeted in just such places," and he passed on, his thoughts in that broken country, once called in endearment by its people "Sunny France," now no longer sunny, but a heartsome and mourning nation.

Troubles of Car Conductors

These are the days that try the souls of conductors on the street cars. Just as they had the riding public trained to the use of the fare machine at the door of each car and even the dullest-witted of us had begun to comprehend the terms, "Prepayment please," the whole plan is upset. Now on outward bound cars you must not pay your fare until you are leaving the car, but so well have the conductors taught us, that many of us insist on paying as we enter. Every conductor has trouble in preventing passengers from dropping dimes into the prepayment box on entering the cars.

The conductors as a rule are very courteous under the circumstances despite the fact that they find it very difficult to train the public to all the various changes in the rules for collecting fares. Practically all of the experienced conductors are careful and courteous, but yet they cannot please everybody. There are passengers who will criticize them no matter what they do but no critic should judge of the entire body from the acts of one or two who may have made mistakes.

LADY LOOKABOUT

FASHIONS AS UNSTABLE AS THE STOCK MARKET

BY BETTY BROWN

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27.—Hoops! Crinolines! An apparently complete right-about-face in the fashion world in less than 24 hours! And the second largest woman's garment making center in the United States is still agape. The night before the formal opening of Cleveland's annual fall style show most of the gowns to be featured by local shops showed narrow skirts, tending toward draperies in everything but the most tailored of street clothes. Here and there an elaborate afternoon or evening dress was built with a full overskirt or with moderate hip puffs but in every case the foundation skirt was narrow—very narrow—about the feet.

Back to 1860

And then consternation, caused by the late arrival of a French ship in New York. Cleveland buyers were elated on the dock waiting for her. So at the last minute display windows were hastily dismantled of slim models with distasteful trains to give place to bouffant flounces and ruffles that measure from four to six yards around the bottom.

For the first time since the days of Queen Elizabeth a crinoline was seen. They are not only back but sold. One particularly fetching evening frock was purchased right out of its display window before its prospective wearer has even tried it on.

It is a most adorable reminiscence of 1860 as may be seen from the sketch above. The dress is built over a petticoat of wired crinoline with bands of crinoline used inside the deep hem of the skirt itself. The material is black tulle. Note the quaint old-fashioned neck line that drops off the shoulders. The waist is tight-fitting, absolutely without trimming save for the full of four-inch black cord that lies which finishes the two-inch sleeves formed by the drop shoulders.

Cascade of Flowers

This lace reappears on the skirt in the form of a flared overskirt gathered onto a four-inch petticoat of the tulle. The somberness of the frock is relieved by the cascade of brilliant and vari-colored ribbon flowers falling free from the waist.

Women stood in crowds in front of the window displaying this startling reversion to our great-grandmothers' days, so if you are lucky enough to possess a trunk of heirlooms, rummage your attic. The 1860 crinoline is the very latest thing in styles, and seems to have been accepted.

Fuller Coats

In order to cover these wide spread and stiff skirts evening coats show a marked fullness. An unusually handsome one that carried you back to the picturesque days of puke bonnets was just a series of five capes, each trimmed with a band of fur. The garment was developed in brown

Miss Billy Wagner has the type of face and the shape of the head which permits the fly-away coiffure and makes it becoming. Older, more solemn faces must beware this style.

"FLY-AWAY" COIFS FOR COQUETTES

Especially written for The Sun by BARBARA BURKE Editor of "Beauty Culture"

There is a type of head and face that can stand the ruffled, fly-away arrangement of the hair, that looks at first glance as if it had not had a comb near it or any attention bestowed upon it for a week.

duvetyrn.

Hip puffs are greatly accentuated in the newest evening frocks, especially those for younger girls. The most interesting feature of the one sketched above is the wing-like supports of wire attached to the waist directly over the hips. These are covered with a net work of artificial lilies of the valley, and from them depends the very full overskirt of apple green net.

The one consolation women may get from this sudden change in fashion is that they may wear almost anything this winter and still be smartly dressed. If skirts so tightly draped they must be slit to allow movement of the feet are shown in the shops side by side with crinolines so generous as to brush the joints of an ordinary doorway, women will have a wide range of choice in styles for the coming season.

The "fly-away" coiffure is becoming to the coquette type of face, and the rather elongated head. The whole problem of choosing a proper style of hairdress is one of line of the head and type of face. If your face is of the type that can stand the ruffled, fly-away style of hair-dressing, a trial before your mirror will certainly tell you so at once. And if the mirror says "No," abandon it at once, and choose a less obvious but more suitable style.

They must be slit to allow movement of the feet are shown in the shops side by side with crinolines so generous as to brush the joints of an ordinary doorway, women will have a wide range of choice in styles for the coming season.

At the present cost of living it is hard enough to pay one's own bills without being obliged to support the fellow who doesn't pay.

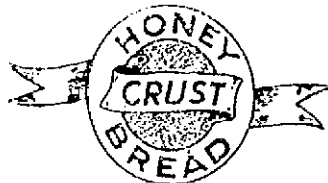

Most milk dealers sell on credit, collecting weekly or monthly. Some customers pay promptly, some are slow and owe old balances, and some never pay. Those who pay promptly help support the rest. Buy your milk from the Turner Centre Creamery and you will not only get the best milk but you will save one-half cent per quart which is what the ordinary dealer loses in bad bills.

capital and had the right of way for a continuous run at the greatest speed consistent with absolute safety. It crossed the Mississippi at St. Louis early in the day and was to be well across Ohio by nightfall. It is due at Washington tomorrow morning.

Resting Comfortably

Under the constant care of Dr. Carl T. Grayson, the president was described as resting comfortably. Dr. Grayson spent the night in the private car Mayflower, so as to be near his patient. He said there was nothing alarming in the situation, but that he would insist upon the president taking absolute rest for a considerable time.

Mrs. Wilson, although herself showing the strain of the long trip across the continent and back, also was in constant attendance upon the president. Having secured some sleep during the late afternoon yesterday, the president sat up in the evening and did not again try to sleep until late at night. Before midnight, however, his bed chamber was dark. Mrs. Wilson also had retired to her room.

The president's illness, although brought to a head by his exertion on his speaking tour, is ascribed by Dr. Grayson in large part to the attack of influenza from which he suffered last April in Paris. On that occasion he was confined to bed for several days, but he continued his conferences with the other members of the "Big Four," consulting with them at his bedside about critical problems of the peace negotiations.

Appointments Cancelled

Although Secretary Tammity announced that all of the president's appointments in the near future had been cancelled, the president still believes he can go to New York next Friday to welcome King Albert of Belgium. Other members of the party thought it likely that the plan would be abandoned, however, and that the greeting would take place instead at Washington.

Whether the president will leave Washington for the rest Dr. Grayson has prescribed, will not be determined immediately. He will at least remain at the White House for a few days and it may be decided that the isolation desired can be secured there better than at some place away from the capital.

The president was described as in good spirit and in a telegram to the members of his family, he assured them there was nothing to be alarmed at in his illness.

Phases Through St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—President Wilson's special train arrived in St. Louis at 3:30 a. m. on its way to Washington and left at 4:15, stopping only long enough to change engines and take on water. The president was reported to be resting quietly. His car was in darkness during the half-hour stop.

PIANO STRIKE-BREAKER IN MUSIC HALLS

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The piano was the chief strike-breaker in the music halls of Paris last night. By the use of this instrument, the Casino, the Olympia, the Ambassadeurs and the Alhambra kept their audiences. The Folies Bergere, known to a majority of American soldiers who visited Paris, returned its patrons' money, having no musicians and only about a quarter of the usual number of performers. The manager declared he would convert the place into a dance hall to avoid trouble with the unions.

Harry Plier kept the Apollo dance hall open with a picked up orchestra. It was said that only four houses were open with full staffs, having signed contracts to engage only union employees.

At the Olympia there were no stage hands to change the scenery, and here and at other halls the changes were made by the performers. A group of non-unionist entertainers held a meeting at which the right to work was demanded. The president of one theatre managers' association was present and said his organization had agreed not to employ unorganized workers, but added he would bring the question again before the association as he personally would refuse to be bound by such an agreement. This is expected to result in a theatre strike at an early date.

Stable boys at the race tracks near Paris have gone on strike, and a general strike of the race track employees seems probable. Today's Autouil races were postponed.

HOW TO MAKE THE MOST OF LEFT-OVER BREAD CRUMBS

BY BIDDY BYE.

Every ounce of food wasted means money thrown away.

So save your breadcrumbs. Dried breadcrumbs can be used as the foundation of many delicious and nutritious dishes.

Breadcrumbs, broken bits of muffins all left-overs from the table, crumbs from the cutting board should be dried thoroughly by putting them in the oven. Care must be taken, however, not to burn them. After they are dried they may be crushed by the rolling pin, or an easier method is to run them through the meat grinder.

If they have been thoroughly dried they can be kept indefinitely in a well-mouthed crockery jar with a loose lid. Such crumbs are excellent for coating croquettes or for covering scalloped dishes.

Among numerous worth while bread crumb dishes are the following:

MARY'S MEAT PATS

This recipe requires less than one-half the usual amount of meat, which is a decided advantage with meat prices as they are.

1 cupful dried bread crumbs.
1 cupful finely chopped cooked meat left-overs.

1 egg.
Milk.

Salt and pepper.

Mix the meat and crumbs, using salt and pepper according to how highly seasoned the meat was when first cooked. Break in the egg (unbeaten). Start final mixing with 1-2 cup of milk and keep pouring in milk slowly until the mixture is too soft to mould with the hands. Drop from a large spoon into a frying pan containing 1-4 inch of hot fat. These "pats" will brown quickly because of the milk they contain. Consequently they should be covered until the first side is browned.

Then remove cover and turn. When done they will be crisp on the outside with a soft, creamy interior. Serve with chopped parsley or tomato gravy. Tomato gravy is easily made by adding 1-2 cup of stewed tomatoes and a little extra thickening to ordinary meat gravy made in the pan in which the "pats" were fried.

STUFFED ONIONS

This makes a very good luncheon dish and may form the main part of the meal.

Buttered bread crumbs.
Six onions of uniform size.
1 cupful of tomato liquid.
1 tablespoonful of butter substitute
1 teaspoonful of sugar.

Salt and pepper.

Parboil the onions for ten minutes. Drain and cool. Scoop out centers and stuff with buttered crumbs that have been slightly moistened with a little of the tomato liquid. Set the onions close together in baking dish and pour in the rest of the liquid seasoned with salt, pepper and sugar. Bake until crumbs are browned. Then thicken the liquid with a little flour. Grate over dish a sprinkle of cheese. Return to the oven until cheese is melted. Serve hot.

GREAT DEMAND FOR OSTRICH FEATHERS

Enterprise Association.

Why is it that a woman who will be almost fearful about the high price of butter—which is one of the most nourishing and necessary things in human life—will spend from $50 to $60 times as much proportionately for an ostrich feather and take pride and joy in doing it, although there is no particular nourishment in or necessity for the ostrich feather so far as human life is concerned?

In a dingy old shop in Great Jones street, New York, raw ostrich feathers are sold at auction soon after they are brought to this country. In this raw state the feathers of the queer birds we term the ostrich are not things to brag about. But wise old boys who know the vanities of women gather in the dingy old shop and examine the bales of dirty feather with the care a cotton classer gives to the

A MERRY CHASE

The "sphere" of the modern Chinese woman, of the type here shown with her family, is growing broader than her friends. She's beginning to make her influence felt in national and international affairs.

CHINESE GIRL PATRIOTS

Sun Writer Tells of Intimate Experiences With "New Woman" of Orient

BY ELIZABETH S. ALLEN
(N.E.A. Special Correspondent in Peking, China)

The first industrial school for poor girls in Peking has been established by the United Girl Students of the city. While their brothers have been raising money to redeem the railways of Shanghai, the girls have found a plan for teaching the making of articles, formerly imported from Japan, and at the same time redeeming their poorer sisters from economic servitude.

Some Chinese girl friends of mine invited me to the entertainment given three nights at the Y.W.C.A. hall in Peking. I went—at two dollars the ticket—and found myself the only foreigner among distinguished Chinese.

A crowd of proud mammas—just as proud and just as reticent as American mammas—sat downstairs while broad pupils leaned over the rail of the gallery upstairs. Their little daughters of the secluded homes of Peking gaily tripped out before the audience, with perhaps a shade more assurance than schoolgirls at home, because the Chinese love a "show"—and danced and sang and acted to the full house. They cleared 5500 a night and distributed native products as well.

During the recent students' movement in Peking to protest against the "Twenty-One Demands," the girls' national student council was formed alongside the boys. They did not lecture or distribute pamphlets or go to jail—but they did their share. While their brothers were held prisoners in the university building, last June, the girls demonstrated for their release. It was a great sight to see the long line of Chinese girls, dressed in their tight jackets and trousers, many hobbling on lately bound feet—marching through the streets of the capital toward the president's palace, to present their petition.

It was at the Girls' Higher Normal, the highest government school for girls, that insubordination finally broke out. The day the strike was declared in all city schools, the young ladies announced to their principals that they would be absent that day for a parade, and thereafter indefinitely.

The principal, a kindly but conservative old scholar, ordered the girls to stay in school. They refused, and in answer were locked into the building. A riot ensued.

The girls broke through the back door of the school and escaped to join the parade. At night, hearing their parents were waiting at home to lock them in, they returned to the school-house where they set up housekeeping for themselves and refused to go home till the elders came to terms!

I was teaching that month in one of the better cities are educated.

One day after class I found five or six waiting for me outside the classroom. Their faces beamed with excitement. My interpreter began by stating that the boys in prison were being starved. What could they—being rich—do to help? Could they send in food and clothing?

I shall never forget those earnest young faces searching mine for advice in the hour of perplexity. I shall never cease believing in the patriotism of the young women of China.

Before school closed in the spring, several girls came to me privately with questions even more astounding. How could they serve their country? A question that showed their ignorance—but their awakening. Education, according to the Peking police, is a breeder of revolutions. Some of these girls will come to America to learn the ways of free women. Then let China beware of the militant suffragette!

Herbert Griffin
"MOVIES" CHARM
THE SIBERIANS

"The confidence of the Russian population in Siberia can be won by motion-pictures," declares Herbert Griffin, Y.M.C.A. worker, who recently returned to the United States after three years in upper Asia.

Griffin declares that the Siberians are "movie-mad," and that it is much easier to convince them of America's greatness and national sincerity with pictures than with facts and figures. Several studies for the production of motion pictures are now being planned for Siberia, says Griffin, who is here to consult with his associates regarding future "Y" work in that part of the world.

CIGARETTES CHEAPER

The price of cigarettes is dropping—at least in some of the local stores—and it is expected that there will be a general reduction in prices in all stores soon. The drop in price is said to be due to the action of manufacturers in placing a large surplus stock on the market and meeting the selling price of the chain stores. The general reduction in prices, it is believed, will be followed by another reduction the latter part of the year.

HEARINGS ON PETITIONS

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy gave hearings on a number of petitions at city hall last evening and later took the various matters under consideration. The chief petition discussed was that for the extension of the sewer in St. Pleasant street. Jesse M. Brown and Joseph Fay opposed the project as they had done at a previous hearing, while Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health favored the extension. Mr. Fay objected on account of the cost.

Excess Weight Can Be Avoided
The Gardner Machine reduces flesh easily, systematically, and scientifically. Operating in a way to assist nature, IT REDUCES WEIGHT TO NORMAL, and at the same time BUILDS UP HEALTH
AND VITALITY. It is equally effective and harmless for children and elderly people, for those who inherit fat, and those who are just beginning to acquire it. The fat cells are actually broken down, and not simply starved, as in the case of dieting. WHEN METABOLISM
IS ESTABLISHED, THE REDUC-TION IS PERMANENT. Physicians have found it ideal for men and women who suffer from high blood pressure, weak heart, or a slight stroke of paralysis. In such cases, exercises of sufficient intensity to bring down fat are prohibitive.

Soldier Bills in Congress

advocates, but whether any one of them will pass or an entirely new plan be adopted is as yet uncertain. Cardinal Mercier in Washington this week to take part in certain great religious ceremonies, but his official welcome by congress will wait the return of the president from his eastern trip. It was not deemed courteous to the chief executive of the nation to extend an official welcome to the great Belgian prelate until after he had met the president and been officially welcomed by him. The senate and house are likely to meet in joint session to meet the cardinal, but if that is not done, then separate receptions by the two bodies will be tendered him. When the cardinal came over from Baltimore a few days ago, he was met at the station by a committee comprised of distinguished members of the Catholic clergy, but the reception was entirely informal. The cardinal was a distinguished figure as he stepped from the train. Tall, straight as an arrow, with snow white hair, he was dressed in the street garb of his rank—a black cassock with a red silk sash about his waist the ends falling into long graceful lines. He wore a small red badge and a tiny Belgium flag on his only decorations while pendant from his neck was the cross of his order and rank. His small skull cap was of vivid red and he held in his hand, as he greeted the clergy, a hat with red and yellow silk cord around it. The cardinal responded to the address of welcome in French.

Case of Lieut. Donnelly
Senator Walsh has taken up with the War Dept. confirming the rank of captain on the late Lieut. Ralph E. Donnelly of Worcester, who was a member of the old Massachusetts 9th and well known in Lowell. Lieut. Donnelly was of the 101st Infantry and had been promoted to a captaincy and died of wounds the day of his promotion and before he could accept the office. His failure to accept was regarded as a technical reason why the records should not show the promotion, but Senator Walsh took up the matter and urged that as no financial aid was involved the promotion as made by the War Department should be honored and thus do justice to a gallant officer. Senator Walsh expects a favorable reply in the case.

Senator Walsh on League of Nations
There is a question of the ground on which Senator Walsh stands regarding the League of Nations. He will deliver his speech showing his stand sometime next week. He has delayed so long from time to time that he has not yet spoken. He is merely waiting for an opportune moment. The senator has made it clear, both to advocates and opponents of the treaty as it now stands, that he is absolutely opposed to several of the sections and will stand for material alterations. This far, except as it affects Ireland, he has not stated details of his opposition but has freely admitted that he would favor the treaty as it now stands.

Speaker Gilbert on State Rights
Speaking before the American Association of Secretaries of States, Speaker Gilbert of Massachusetts said that the relations of state and federal government ought to be more clearly defined. He expressed conviction that state should deal with everything within their rights and not throw so much on congress. "I am am firmly convinced," said he, "that states should have supreme jurisdiction constitutionally. It is of great importance that states work for uniformity in many laws and work harmoniously for good government without waste and extravagance. He expressed conviction that there should be a well established definition of state rights."

Senator Walsh's Shipping Plan
There is a rumor afloat that the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation will be consolidated and one or the other abandoned. If such a consolidation comes about, it will undoubtedly be the fleet that will go under, but no such change can be made without act of congress, and none is in sight at this moment. All the same the committee on merchant marine has notified both organizations that strict economy is to be the watchword from now on, and that although congress was disposed to wink at many extravagances during war, it is in no mood to continue that practice. The committee has called on the shipping board and fleet board to submit figures showing the exact cost of maintaining each vessel, while under government control. The committee wants to know what is responsible for the tremendous expense of operation; it wants to know if a subsidy will be necessary if the government continues to operate ships; and above all, it wants the running expense of both these organizations cut down without delay. As a result many reductions in the working force have already been made and more are to follow in the near future. Walsh of Massachusetts has before congress a bill to create a new department with a cabinet officer at its head, which shall deal with all coast and marine matters, but whether that bill will get up for discussion this session is very doubtful. In the meantime a special committee, as well as the merchant marine committee, is dipping deep for facts to govern a future policy.

THIS TELLS HOW HENSEL DOES IT

Some people wonder how Walter L. Hensel, proprietor of the Westford shoe repair shop, can come out evenly in a newspaper advertisement soliciting business at 15 cents an hour. The problem is quickly solved when one stops to think that the employees of Mr. Hensel are expert machinists and trouble men and that they have worked enough to keep them busy from morning till night. At the Westford shoe repair shop it is not a case of working a few hours a day, for everybody has something to do from the time the shop is opened until it is closed, so that patrons are not called upon to pay the lost time.

"JOE" VERCONTAIRE IS AUTO EXPERT

Joseph Vercontaire or plain "Joe" as he is called by his many acquaintances and who for some time was in the employ of the Lowell Motor Mart is now in business for himself at 140 Ford Street, his establishment being known as the Ford Street Garage. Mr. Vercontaire, who is an expert automobile man, has made a lot of friends while employed for others and now he is more than ever endeavoring to hold these friends and make new ones. His work is excellent in every respect, while his prices are more than reasonable. What "Joe" does not know about automobiles, is not worth knowing.

THIS IS GOOD TIME TO ORDER OVERCOAT

Now is the time to give your order for your overcoat, if you have not yet done it, and according to many, the proper place to go to is the tailor shop of Harry Raymond, the merchant tailor at 146 Gorham Street. Mr. Raymond is a cutter of great ability and his work is sure to satisfy all comers. He uses nothing but the best merchandise and his prices are right. He also makes a specialty of cleaning, pressing and repairing clothes. His telephone number is 1971-W.

CURES TIRE ILLS OF ALL KINDS

At 7 East Merrimack Street is a tire hospital, known in the business world as Grady's Tire Shop. This is the place where tire ills of all kinds are cured. There is no damage or injury to a tire that cannot be taken care of by Grady, for he is an expert vulcanizer and has made a thorough study of the tire business from a to z. Remember the place, 7 East Merrimack Street.

AGENT FOR THE BOSCH MAGNETOS

This is to inform automobile owners and the public in general that the official agent for the Bosch Magneto in this city is Alfred Markus, the expert on batteries and ignition, whose place of business is at 15-17 Arch Street. If you have any trouble with your batteries consult Mr. Markus and he will do the rest.

CLASS TO OWL SHOE REPAIRING SHOP

The Owl Shoe Repairing shop at 212 Central Street is one of the classic establishments of this city, according to many who have had occasion to judge the merits of this place of business. The consensus of opinion relative to that shop is that it is a place where one can get the best of workmanship and the highest grade of leather at prices that are astonishing. This shop makes a specialty of doing first class repairing while you wait. Give it a trial and be convinced.

THE ELITE SHOE IS TOP NOTCHER

The elite shoe is one of the best products of the shoe industry of this country and the only place in Lowell that one can purchase this ideal footwear is at the Quality Shop at 112 Middlesex Street. This concern handles nothing but the best and highest grades of shoes as well as made to order shoes. At present it is conducting a sale that will help some to defray the high cost of living.

USE BICYCLE AND SAVE CAR FARE

Why pay exorbitant car fares when you can enjoy the use of a bicycle, which will take you safely to your work and provide for you very valuable exercise. Alexander J. Perreault, who maintains a bicycle and motorcycle shop at 220 Allen Street has on the easy payment plan. He is agent for the famous Pope "wheel" and also deals in supplies. His telephone number is 5676.

You can order the most magnificent memorial or the most modest one here with the knowledge that you are securing the maximum value in hand-someness of design, perfect execution of the workmanship, and the highest grade marble or granite.
Our stock is most complete, our prices exceptionally close, and for verification of our claims of quality we can show you many examples hereabouts of our work.

FAIR AND WARNER'S ANOTHER HIGH GRADE ATTRACTION AT THE OPERA HOUSE

It's going to be "Fair and Warner's" at the Opera House the coming week. This unusually clever farce comedy, recently released for stock, will be the week's selection by the Lowell Players, and judging from the successes the company has scored in all of their endeavors up to date, there is not the slightest doubt but that the members will show to particular advantage, as well as again reflect their exceptional versatility, in the coming offering.

Messrs. Buckley and Schaeke have been unusually fortunate in being able to secure such high-grade attractions for the local stage, but they have their promise to live up to and this they intend to do regardless of what trouble or expense they are put to. One glance over the contracts they have made in the line of plays secured for the season should be sufficiently convincing to satisfy the most exacting taste that they are making an honest and very successful effort to procure only the best. "Fair and Warner's" is only one of the highest farce comedies that the stage has given in recent seasons. Madge Kennedy, the bright and popular motion picture star, was featured in its original production both in New York and Boston. At the latter place the piece remained at the Wilbur Theatre for 34 consecutive weeks and at the time of its departure was "going big." It is a distinct stage play and it has more original and enjoyable humor, both in its lines and actions, than any that has gone before. The principal characters are two young men and their wives. Jealousy enters into their lives and the adventures of the quartet, in their efforts to satisfy their suspicions of one another, are unusually laughable.

Miss Margaret Fields and John McLean will be found in two of the principal roles and both are sure of adding to their general popularity. Miss Fields has the happy faculty of handling comedy roles with a cleverness that is marked, while Mr. McLean, who is an actor of rare ability, had already given positive evidence of his power of entertaining in varied characterizations. Hal Crane, the juvenile man, Miss Patricia Knowles, and the others of the cast will also be found on the list and your particular seats will be reserved from week to week. In this way patrons will save themselves annoyance and discomfort generally experienced by crowdings about the ticket office. Try it next week and be satisfied that what is claimed is true. It costs nothing to try and every one is better satisfied.

JAMES C. MORTON, FAMOUS COMEDIAN, AT KEITH'S THEATRE, NEXT WEEK

Among the players to be seen at the B. Keith Theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening are Eagle and Ramona, an uncommonly successful pair of singers and instrumentalists. They have been engaged for appearances on Sunday only, and with them will also appear Gene Gale, a singing comedian, and Charlotte & Leopold, singers and pianists. Others on the bill will be Will M. Reed, the comedian, and the Barry Girls, Sandy Shaw and Powers and Wallace.

James C. Morton, one of the most successful comedians in vaudeville will be seen at the theatre this coming week in a comedy travesty. Morton only recently dissolved a theatrical partnership of long standing, and now he has associated with him three members of his own family—Mamie, Edna and Alfred Morton. Mr. Morton is the sort of a comedian who gives an excellent account of himself under all conditions. In the old days he worked with a very white face; now he appears just as himself, and it cannot be said that he is a whit less funny than he has ever been.

What Paderewski is to the piano, Spalding is to the violin and Kronold to the cello. Pietro is to the piano accordion. He takes this instrument with him, and is a dignified standing among musicians, and gives it a human voice, a voice that is alive with joy, or in the throes of a great sorrow. It is an organ of moods. Nobody has quite equaled him in the giving of lights and shades to the music that comes from the piano accordion. Thousands of his records are to be found distributed throughout the country.

William Sully, one of the four Sullys, comes of a family just as noted in the theatrical line as the others and the other Sullys were for years hailed with delight wherever they appeared. He is now co-operating with Genevieve Houghton in a merry musical travesty called "Between Danes." It was written especially for them by Aaron Hoffman, which is guarantee that the material is first class in every particular. Miss Houghton is a charming girl who knows well how to make the most of the material offered.

Lida MacMillan and Bert Snow will appear in "Contrary," a comedy skit by Nick English. Miss MacMillan was one of the first of actresses to go to France with the Over There Theatre League, and saw service on several different fronts. She has a real appreciation of what the Yankees did in the war game, and isn't at all averse to telling about it either.

Adeline Booth is a particularly charming bit of femininity and she is as versatile as she is pretty. She sings surprisingly well, and she has a keen sense of humor. Chas. H. Houghton, who is an actor of rare ability, had already given positive evidence of his power of entertaining in varied characterizations. Hal Crane, the juvenile man, Miss Patricia Knowles, and the others of the cast will also be found on the list and your particular seats will be reserved from week to week. In this way patrons will save themselves annoyance and discomfort generally experienced by crowdings about the ticket office. Try it next week and be satisfied that what is claimed is true. It costs nothing to try and every one is better satisfied.

"THE MIRACLE MAN" HAILED AS PICTURE OF UNUSUAL MERIT—STRIKING FILM

Hailed by critics as one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced, "The Miracle Man" will be displayed at the Merrimack Square theatre on Monday next for a week's run. It is the screen version of the play by George M. Cohan that scored so emphatically on Broadway some months ago, and which in turn was based on Frank L. Packard's best-selling novel. No picture in recent months has had so much praise lavished upon it for the dramatic quality of its story, its keen characterization, and beautiful photography.

The story of "The Miracle Man" centers around an old patriarch of the hills who has gained a reputation for his power to heal the sick and afflicted. To him come a band of unscrupulous crooks from the slums of New York—Tom Burke, their leader; Ross, The Frog, and the Dope—who have conceived the scheme of capitalizing the healer's gift and taking the money for themselves.

What follows is one of the most absorbing stories ever unfolded on the screen.

In the hands of such talented players as Thomas Meighan, Edna May, Betty Compson, Lon Chaney and W. Lawrence, the development of the chief characters under the influence of the deaf and blind patriarch is portrayed with admirable skill.

GERALDINE FARRAR AND LOU TELLEGEN IN "THE WORLD AND ITS WOMAN"

Ever mindful of the high standard of entertainment to be maintained at The Strand, the management will offer for the coming week one of the strongest bills of the season. Look it over and decide for yourself. During the first three days Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen will be featured in "The World and Its Woman," and Bessie Love will be presented in "Over the Garden Wall." For the last three days June Courize and Crockett Hale, in the rich comedy screen success, "Oh, Boy!" The other feature will be Gladys Brockwell in "The Broken Commandment."

The sacred concert for Sunday will include the following high-class vaudeville acts: Cook and Smith, entertainers; George Mann, character comedian; The Reynolds, singing and comedy; The Neers, general entertainers; Henry Gray, comedian. The feature picture will be Madge Kennedy in "Day Dream."

The great upheaval in Russia forms the background for the latest Geraldine Farrar picture, which Goldwyn will present for the first three days of the week, commencing with matinee on Monday. The overthrow of the czar's government, the effect it had on the soldiers, and the general discontent of the populace is shown in a series of vivid pictures. Into this atmosphere is woven a story of an American girl's rise to fame as an opera singer in Russia, paralleling in a large measure, the actual rise of the heroine, Geraldine Farrar, to the pinnacle of her operatic career. Besides the story of the singer's ambition, other tale finds its way into the unfolding of the story. It is of the singer's love for an Imperial prince who has formed an unhappy alliance with a woman of his class, only to discover that she had proved unfaithful to her trust.

Love, romance, adventure and intense dramatic situations characterize the picturesque and charming story of "Over the Garden Wall," in which the fascinating star, Bessie Love, appears. There are again bits of humor, pretty love scenes in the most romantic places, and a sense of climax which is very dramatic and full of the proverbial punch. What kind of a man does the ordinary high-spirited girl want for her mate? That's the basis for the action and story which is provided in this delightful offering.

"Oh, Boy!" which is booked for the last three days of the week is said to represent the only really successful attempt ever made to translate to the screen the complete story of a modern up-to-date "girlie-girl" musical comedy hit. For from start to finish, "Oh, Boy!" is just one succession of laughter-provoking, ludicrous, farcical situations, yet maintaining the romantic story of the original musical comedy production.

The story of "The Broken Commandment," the newest William Fox play for Gladys Brockwell, presents the novel idea of a man throwing dice three times for possession of a girl, and finally throwing the loaded dice in order to lose, because he realizes this will be for her good. Coming October 13, Douglas Fairbanks in "His Majesty the American."

ARE YOU LEGALLY MARRIED? A play or a picture if it is to serve its purpose must be founded on facts and not fancy. It must bear the earmarks of truth in order that it will convince beyond a doubt. "Are You Legally Married?" a wonderful screen play which comes to the Crown Theatre on Monday, Sept. 29, is founded upon an actual fact and it will create a veritable sensation in this city. If a person were to tell you that you were not "legally" married you would call him a fool, so don't guess, but find out if you are "legally married" by seeing this dramatic thunder-bolt and then you will be convinced. The story is tense, full of strong,

INFANT MORTALITY

Lowell had the highest infant mortality rate in the country among those cities which reported to the federal bureau of the census for the week ending Sept. 20, according to figures received here late yesterday. This city's rate was 27.6. Cleveland was second with 23.5 and Pittsburgh third with 23.1. Memphis had the lowest rate, 2.2, and the average was 16.6.

H. G. Wells is reported to be writing a 350,000-word history of the world.

Just how great is the power of conscience? Conscience—that in-human jester from whom no guilty person can escape! Gordon Kingsley believed that mental suffering is greater than physical pain, and used that method of torturing from his wife a confession of her little white lie.

"The White Lie," shown Sunday, was written by William Barker and presents the talented emotional actress, Bessie Barriscale, in one of the biggest dramatic stories of the screen. Edward Coxen in the role of the husband, Charles Gunn as the "other man" who, curiously enough, is not a villain, and little Mary Jane Irving make up the characters around whom the story centers.

OF NEW YORK

Monday Night

This Jazz Orchestra is the talk of New England, Haverhill and Lawrence, played to full capacity.

Zasu Pitt, as "The Jazz Kid" in "The Other Half," is a syncopated dynamo in this entirely human drama.

They called Jennie Jones "The Jazz Kid" because she couldn't make her feet behave, and how that slim wisp of a girl could step. She jazzed with her feet—she jazzed with her hands—she jazzed with her heart!

The "Jazz Baby" is a refreshing and exhilarating type of the "poor working girl" who didn't see any sense in moaning or crying against her hard lot as she totted in the hot laundry with the mercury trying to bust out the top of the tube.

When her "Sweetie" returned home, the "Jazz Kid" swallowed her gum in her mouth.

Then when "Sweetie" was nearly killed in an accident, the "Kid" tried to cheer him up with her jazz. He was so jazzed that he was hospitalized.

The "Jazz Kid" is a character that goes straight to the heart of every American, for she's whole-souled, sincere and a spunky little optimist.

FINANCE LAW VIOLATED

Former Mayor O'Donnell
Says City is Violating
Finance Law of 1913

The evils of the present financial system of the city of Lowell and the possibilities for good in a finance commission were discussed at a meeting of the legislative committee of the board of trade held at the board's rooms at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Former mayor James E. O'Donnell was the principal speaker.

Mr. O'Donnell declared that the city had been violating the state finance law of 1913 for the past five years and that there is no check on the expenditure of money after it is received. The upshot of the meeting was a decision of the committee to study further into finance commissions in other cities and to hold a meeting at a later date to take definite action.

Chairman Fred C. Weld, presided at the meeting and those present besides Mr. O'Donnell were President John M. O'Donoghue, Patrick J. Reynolds and Frank J. Campbell.

In opening Mr. O'Donnell referred to the state finance law adopted in 1913 which said that when a city borrows money to macadamize a street, the street shall be macadamized in accordance with specifications of the state highway commission. He alleged that this had not been done in Lowell for the past five years, that the streets were not properly macadamized and that the money borrowed for this purpose had been used to pay laborers who should have been paid out of current expense money. It is almost impossible to check this practice, he said as when the payrolls reach the auditor they do not specify on what job a man is working.

What is true in the street department Mr. O'Donnell said was true of many of the other departments. He maintained that the water department would not have had to increase its rates under proper management. He declared that all these matters could be remedied by a finance commission and said that were he mayor he should welcome such a commission.

The former mayor also made reference to the construction of several school additions in the past few years and said that the new school addition in the Highlands should have been taken up before the Bartlett school addition had been built. The extra children in the Bartlett school could have been taken care of by vacant rooms in the Pawtucket school.

Architects on city work should not be paid on the basis of the cost of construction, Mr. O'Donnell said. This might offer inducements to make the job cost as much as possible.

It was generally agreed by those present that a finance commission would benefit the city but it was questioned whether such a commission should be appointed by the governor or by the people. It was finally decided to study the matter further and have another meeting later.

LOWELL HAS LARGE

LEGION POST

Lowell Post, 87, of the American Legion is the fourth largest in the entire state of Massachusetts in point of membership, according to figures which were obtained at the state headquarters of the legion in Boston by officers of the local post yesterday.

The Lowell post is headed only by New Bedford post which leads the state. Worcester post and the yeomen's (1) post of the Charlestown navy yard. There is to be a big meeting of the legion at the war camp community service club next Monday evening at 8 o'clock and the officers of the post here in Lowell are confident that they will have secured enough members by that time to surpass Worcester and give New Bedford a fight for first place honors.

TEN INFLUENZA

CASES REPORTED

Ten cases of influenza were reported at the office of the board of health during the week which ends today. One of these was recorded this morning. This is the largest number reported in any one week since the subsidence of the epidemic early in the year. There was also an exceptionally large number of tuberculosis cases reported.

There was a slight decrease in the death rate this week, the figure being 13.48 in comparison with 13.97 for last week and 12.52 for the week previous. There were 23 deaths this week, ten of which were of children under five years of age. Nine of these were of children less than a year old. Infectious diseases caused two deaths, lobar pneumonia, one; diphtheria, one, and tuberculosis, one.

Infectious diseases reported included: Diphtheria, 3; scarlet fever, 3; typhoid fever, 1; measles, 1; tuberculosis, 40, and influenza, 10.

Auctions were common among ancient Babylonians.

The motion picture with an amazing soul!

There are some pictures that are exciting because of the wickedness they reveal, and others that are exciting because of the incredible virtue they depict.

"The Miracle Man" is both!

Imagine the worst sharks that exist in Chinatown — a daring crackman, a beautiful girl as tough and wicked as a snake, a faker who could counterfeit any deformity you like, a dope-fiend as sly as a weasel.

Imagine these people invading the lives of other human beings every bit as good as these are bad, the acid of sin staining to bite into the gold of pure hearts.

Imagine all the complications that could arise from this situation and even then you have but the faintest idea of the thrill there is in seeing such a conflict!

bean, raised at his home, 28 Walker street, is most apt. This bean weighs about eight and eight, that is, eight pounds and eight ounces; is 18 inches long, and has a girth measurement of 14 inches. It's so big that it takes only a very few of them to make a dozen, and, in fact, is probably the largest bean in the world. It is not called a California pea bean, no, this is a new Guinea bean, a new comer to this part of the world. Those familiar with Guinea pigs and Guinea hens will welcome the opportunity to lamp this Guinea bean. It's a rare dish and large enough to satisfy the appetites of several families at one sitting. It will replace in a window of the Lowell Public Market for a day or two.

"THE MIRACLE MAN" ALL NEXT WEEK AT MERRINACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Make-Believe Wife" and Louise Huff in "The Little Intruder" will be the feature attractions at the Merrinack Square theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening and the usual surrounding program of features will be presented.

The committee in charge of the "Who's Who" contest which was run at this theatre several weeks ago and which attracted widespread attention because of the prominence of the local business men whose features were thrown on the screen, has chosen the winners of the contest and the prizes will be forwarded at once. Romeo Couture of 100 Hastings street, a well known local letter carrier, won first prize of $10. He submitted a list which was practically completely correct.

Second prize, $5, goes to Mabel F. Webber of 22 Osgood street, who had only a few less correct than Mr. Couture. Honorable mention is made of T. J. Vigeant of 846 Moody street who also had a large number correct, but whose list was received later than that of the second prize winner.

All next week the Merrinack Square theatre will present one of the biggest features of motion picturedom when George Loane Tucker's famous play, "The Miracle Man," will be shown. So great a success has this play been both on the legitimate stage and on the screen that the management has decided to book it for the entire week.

An all-star cast has been engaged to portray the various characters of this play. During the week all orchestra seats will sell for 50 cents and the entire balcony for 25 cents. The story of "The Miracle Man" follows:

Tom Burke is leader of a group of slick crooks who operate in New York's Chinatown. Their chief prey is slumming parties, who come on sight-seeing tours and are deceived by a neat trick in which the Dope, a confederate of Burke's, pretends to be Rose, his clever companion in crime. The Dope and a mis-shapen individual known as "The Frog," whose value lies in his ability to put his body out of joint at will, are members of Burke's gang.

Burke reads in the paper of a Miracle Man, living in a country district near the sea, who is credited with the power to cure the sick and crippled. He conceives the idea of capitalizing this healer and collecting money for himself from grateful people affected by his cures. He confides his plan to his pals, and they agree to help.

Burke goes to the village where the healer lives, believing in his heart that the man is a fake.

Burke is not pleased with developments. The presence of a little crippled boy in the town and the arrival of Claire have disturbed his plans to stage a framed-up miracle, with the Frog as the decoy. But he goes through with it, nevertheless. Still, distorted, the Frog crawls up the pathway to the patriarch's cottage, the onlookers agape with interest. As the white-haired Miracle Man appears, the crook straightens up by degrees and finally stands erect. Suddenly the little cripple, who has been watching, a great light in his eyes, rushes forward, cured! And Claire King steps forth from the chair that has held her for years—a well woman!

The crooks now strike an unexpected gold mine, for the delighted King pays Burke, as the patriarch's self-styled business manager, $50,000 in gratitude for his sister's cure. Rose arrives, playing the role of a sweet, innocent girl, and King falls in love with her.

Burke alone is seemingly untouched. But, despite himself, a little heaven of good in his nature persists in asserting itself. King returns, determined to assert his love for Rose. Then Burke realizes that he loves the girl fiercely. But Rose repulses him, telling him that his love is not that of an honorable man. Maddened, Burke swears he will kill King rather than see him win the girl!

RACHMANINOFF TOUR

Sunday, Oct. 12, at 8.15, the great Russian pianist, Rachmaninoff, will give a concert of piano music at the Lowell Opera House. Among his numbers he is to include his famous Chahar minor prelude.

The music for the piano has done much to raise Rachmaninoff to his high place in America and in Europe. He has written, besides, operas that are well established in Russian lyric theatres; a symphony—his second—and a symphonic poem, "The Isle of the Dead," both frequently heard and applauded in American concert halls; three piano concertos, and various miscellaneous pieces for voices, orchestra and groups of instruments. All this music has established the wealth of his imagination, the range of his powers, his unique personality and his hold upon the public on both sides of the Atlantic. As he proved on his first visit to America, he is as able and elegant a pianist with orchestra as he is in recitals of his own. In opera house no less than in concert hall, Russian audiences have honored and admired him as conductor of the concerts of the Philharmonic society and of the Imperial Opera House of Moscow, while in his earlier American tour he won many a laurel as leader in his own music.

Indeed, only a short time ago he was offered the conductorship of the Boston Symphony orchestra, the blue ribbon for such work, and declined it only under pressure of other desires and obligations. Since the years before that war, no European musician of Rachmaninoff's interest and eminence has visited America.
